THE LINCOLN STAR

FIFTY-EIGHTH YEAR No. 277 LINCOLN, NEB., FRIDAY MORNING, AUGUST 19, 1960 SEVEN CENTS

Sky-Spy Satellite Goes Into Perfect Orbit

Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. (AP)—The satellite Discoverer XIV roared into polar orbit Thursday, crammed with secret sky-spy gear.

The successful launch in the once trouble-plagued series came but a week after the United States' spectacular space first with Discoverer XIII recovery of its capsule from orbit.

The Air Force said the new satellite is whirling around the globe once every 94 minutes in an orbit just about perfect for another recovery. Its high point is 450 miles, low point 120.

Moonlet No. 14's nose cone was loaded with special instruments designed to help two upcoming series of surveillance satellites: Samos, to radio back pictures of terrain it passes over; Midas, to detect enemy missile firings. Exact nature of the gear was classified.

A separate instrument package, to help with optical and radar tracking, was included to gather data for the Navy's transit navigation satellite program.

Tricky Task Ahead

The Air Force hopes, Friday, to accomplish the elusive goal of all Discoverer shots—making a tricky aerial catch of the falling capsule.

The plan: to eject the capsule on the satellite's 17th pass over the Arctic, have Hawaii-based C-119 Flying Boxcars try to snag its parachute as it floats down over the ocean north of Hawaii.

The planes couldn't reach Discoverer XIII's capsule in time, but it was plucked from the sea by a ship.

Discover XIII remains in orbit and, by odd coincidence, delayed Thursday's launch. It passed overhead during the countdown and No. 14 was held up for 15 minutes. Scientists feared No. 13's signals might confuse the tracking gear.

The most spectacular shots in the series are expected after one more recovery. These involve placing chimpanzees in the capsules, firing them into orbit, and trying to recover them. This, aimed at perfecting a technique of returning humans safely from space, is a vital goal of this country's man in space program.

Cape Shot Fails

Cape Canaveral, Fla. (AP) — Explosion of the carrier rocket Thursday wrecked the first attempt to orbit a satellite that could lead to a communications network for all U.S. military forces.

The two-stage rocket, a Thor-Able-Star, blew apart in a giant flash of fire and smoke about 2½ minutes after it lifted off in an effort to fling the 51-inch 500-pound sphere — called Courier 1A — into a circular orbit 700 miles above the earth.

Courier 1A was packed with tape recorders and complex electronic gear capable of receiving 68,000 words a minute and simultaneously transmitting at the same rate while whirling over a ground station.

Failure was a bitter disappointment to Air Force and Army scientists who were cooperating on the program. They hoped to get off to a good start on a program leading to a quick, reliable space age system of television-radio communications. Commercial communication space programs eventually would benefit from the findings.

Once perfected — in an estimated 4 years — a chain of courier satellites is scheduled to whirl across the skies, tieing together the vast communications network of all this nation's military services.

SENATE PASSES WAGE BILL

–U2 PILOT REGRETS HIS FLIGHT–

Leniency Expected In Powers' Verdict

...RUSS PAINT BLACK PICTURE OF U.S. MILITARY

Moscow (AP) — Prosecutor Roman Rudenko began summing up the Soviet government's case against Francis Gary Powers as the espionage trial of the American U2 flier went into its final hours.

There was no definite word, but it was believed today's session may end the trial of the American flier brought down over the Soviet Union May 1. Yesterday the Soviet prosecution hammered persistently on the theme that Powers knew in advance the full meaning of his flight over Russian territory. Leniency is expected.

Time after time in the second day of the trial technical witnesses repeated that the May 1 flight was planned and "premeditated," and attempted to link Powers directly with the U.S. military.

Powers disagreed with some of the testimony. But once more he told the military section of the Soviet Supreme Court he repented his flight. The pilot, who has pleaded guilty to spying, said he regretted "very, very much" that he had made the flight, and expressed belief he had done his own country a "very ill service."

Moscow Radio, stressing the flier's expressions of regret, told its Russian listeners this factor placed Powers apart, and made "a clear distinction between him and those who sent him." Soviet authorities have made it clear their primary interest is in convicting U.S. policy in the eyes of world opinion.

Mass Of Experts

The prosecution introduced a mass of expert testimony concerning Powers' U2 plane, its equipment, and documents carried by Powers which the prosecution apparently introduced to link him directly to the U.S. Air Force.

This testimony seemed to be leading up to a Soviet argument that the U.S. government and its military leadership deliberately carried out a policy which bore a risk of war.

The extent of Powers' repentance seems to be an important factor. His Soviet defense counsel, Mikhail I. Griniov, told Powers' family after the day's proceeding that the flier's behavior on the stand and his repeated expressions of regret and repentance raised hope that the court would be lenient with him.

Griniov's view may reflect official Soviet thinking, since he is a court-appointed lawyer who, under the Soviet legal system, has a duty to the state superseding that to his client.

Spirit Lowers

Powers' spirits seemed to have fallen as he finished his second day of testimony, but he was challenging some of the prosecution witnesses. He had none of his own to testify to his character or to his purpose in making earlier flights along the southern Soviet frontiers, nor to his reasons for undertaking the ill-fated May 1 flight across Soviet territory.

The inference being made by Soviet authorities is that Powers differs from his superiors because they—including President Eisenhower—expressed no regret for flying the U2 1,200 miles inside Soviet territory May 1. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev—now vacationing in the Crimea—insists the incident caused the Paris Summit conference to collapse May 16.

The prosecution centered its attack on Powers' contention that he was not a true spy, but rather just a pilot acting under superiors' orders.

The prosecution also paid much attention to the question of identification marks on the U2 plane itself. Lt. Col. Yuri Tyufilin, testifying as an engineer-expert, said an examination of layers of paint on the wrecked plane proved to him the plane never carried identification marks because its mission was spying and not scientific research.

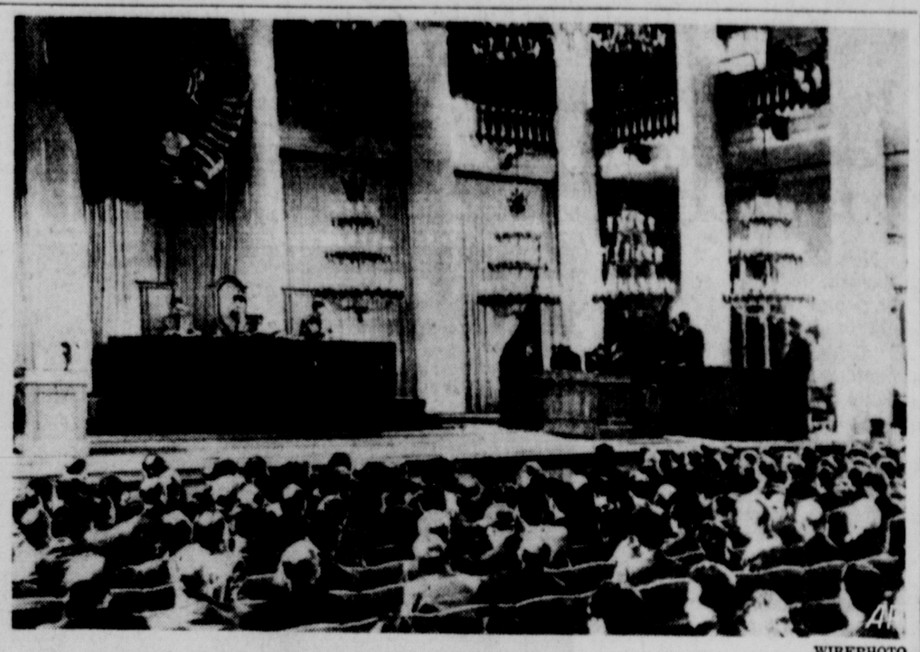

But Powers contended he had seen the plane at his base prior to his flight and had always seen it "with identification marks." The court told him he was entitled to disagree.

The prosecution also centered attention on a poison needle which the Russians claim Powers was to use to kill himself if he was in danger of capture. Dr. Victor Ilich Prazorovoski, as a medical expert, said the needle carried a poison of the curare group such as used by South American Indians for blowgun darts, adding it had killed a dog in 3 minutes and a mouse in 20 seconds.

"It is one of the most potent and swift-acting poisons," the doctor said. "Our commission concluded that if a human being were pricked by this needle, death would set in as swiftly as with animals."

Powers had testified the needle was given him in Pakistan and it was up to him whether he used it, but that it had been intended for use only if he should be tortured.

The prosecution also hammered at international aspects of the case, including the involvement of Pakistan as the site of Powers' takeoff.

Kennedy Gets $1.25 Measure

4 MILLION NEW WORKERS WOULD GET PROTECTION

Washington (AP)—The Senate Thursday night passed Sen. John F. Kennedy's bill raising the minimum wage from $1 to $1.25 an hour and giving about 4 million more workers protection of the wage-hour act.

The vote marked a victory for the Democratic presidential nominee.

He was chief sponsor of the legislation and shepherded it through the Senate, successfully fighting off nearly all limiting amendments of a major nature.

The roll call vote was 62-34.

However, to win the closest battle of all during Thursday's session, he had to agree to cut down the new coverage in the bill by about 900,000 workers. Originally he had sought to bring 5 million under the Fair Labor Standards Act.

The measure, one of the items placed high on their list of major legislation by Democrats in the abbreviated pre-election congressional session, still has a rocky road ahead.

Back To House

It now goes back to the House, which passed a much less comprehensive version in June. That measure would boost the wage floor to $1.15 and cover about 1,400,000 new workers.

Supporters of the legislation now will try to get it into conference but the conservative House Rules Committee may prove a big stumbling block.

And, if the conference is allowed, the House delegates are expected to be set against taking the broader terms of the Senate bill.

Even if the House accedes, President Eisenhower might veto the measure, since the administration advocated an increased minimum only to the $1.15 level and much narrower additional coverage.

The Senate version would bring important coverage of the act to the retail store field for the first time. Not even the largest department store now is covered. However, the bill applies mainly to chains or very large stores.

Kennedy told the Senate the final product is not all he wanted but said "I think this is a good bill."

"It will make a real difference to thousands of persons whose lives will be affected beneficially," he declared.

In 3 Steps

The $1 an hour minimum for the 23,700,000 workers now covered by the act would be raised to $1.15 next Jan. 1, to $1.20 Jan. 1, 1962, and to $1.25 Jan. 1, 1963.

An estimated 2,400,000 of these employes would get a raise when the $1.15 minimum takes effect. About 3,600,000 now are receiving less than $1.25.

Workers newly covered under the bill would get a $1 an hour floor and no overtime the first year.

Starting Jan. 1, 1962, their minimum would be $1.05 with overtime after 44 hours a week. On Jan. 1, 1963, it would become $1.15 and 42 hours and on Jan. 1, 1964, $1.25 and 40 hours—the work week limit now applying to already-covered workers.

New Coverage

The new coverage in the bill is as follows:

1. About 2,600,000 in retail and service enterprises doing a million dollars worth of business in a year. However, workers for hotels, motels, restaurants, auto dealers and farm implement dealers would continue to be exempt; Kennedy had to accept these exclusions Thursday. Motion picture theaters were exempt as the bill came to the floor. Individual gasoline service stations doing $250,000 of business in a year would be covered.
2. About 150,000 employes of laundry and drycleaning establishments with at least one million dollars annual sales.
3. About 107,000 employes of local transit companies.
4. About 32,000 workers engaged in fish processing.
5. About 41,000 telephone switchboard operators. This would result from limiting the exemption in present law to small independently owned exchanges.
6. About 100,000 seamen.
7. About one million employes in establishments which now have one or more employes covered by the wages and Hours Act. Under present law, an employe can be covered if his work is in interstate commerce while another employe of the same company would not be covered.

Everything Put On The Block

. . . At Diller Rural School Consolidation Sale

By Dean Terrill
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Diller—At prices sounding like bananas by the bunch, hunks of history have been handed out here in quantity.

George Washington portraits, old school handbells and blackboards of every description—all were plentiful in the 9 rural school houses which also went over the auction block. The two days of intensive selling was a by-product of the recent consolidation program of Diller's Community Schools, District 103.

The schools themselves, some predating the century, will be converted by their new owners to garages and granaries. A few choice ones, like District 66 bought by Herb Hartwig, will be remodeled for homes. Prices varied from $145 to $740.

Little Things Surprise

"It was the little things which surprised, like handbells that brought $5 to $10," said Leonard Sasse, who shared auctioneering duties with Wayne Stephens. "Folks wanted them for antiques so much that we even got 15 bucks for a big bell that was cracked."

Sentiment played its part too, although it didn't inflate values as the antiques did. Mrs. Mel Nelson, for example, had little competition buying a blackboard which she had used while attending old District 73 half a century ago.

The teacher's desk of District 56 was irresistible—especially at $1.25—to Mrs. Scott Miller, who had bade it goodbye when moving to another job in 1919.

"I went to the auctions just for old time's sake, but came home with enough furniture to start my own school," she commented. "I bought 7 children's desks for 50 cents, and they're fine for the grandchildren to set up school on the front porch."

Brings Good Price

A local barber, LeRoy Bentley, almost cornered the market on Washington pictures at from 10 to 50 cents. A pot-bellied stove brought 7 times the price of one more modern counterpart, an oil burner, but that was still only $1.75.

To a few farmers, the closed schools mean another acre of land. The sites will revert back to the farms from which they originally were taken decades ago.

One item which is fast going out of style brought no spirited bidding, probably because it lacks both sentimental and antique value. Even the fact that it was built to government specifications didn't do much for the price.

The item? Eighteen outhouses—WPA style.

'FOR OLD TIME'S SAKE'

Ex-schoolmom Mrs. Scott Miller bought the teacher's desk at which she sat over 40 years ago at District 56. "Just for old time's sake" and she also brought home enough furniture for her grandchildren to play school with the neighbors. Dominicans, U.S. Poked By Cubans

San Jose, Costa Rica (AP) — Cuba demanded Thursday night that the Organization of American States (OAS) condemn both the United States and the Dominican Republic as aggressors and take punitive action against them.

Fidel Castro's foreign minister, Raul Roa, lashed out at the two countries in a fiery speech before the 6th Conference of Hemispheric Foreign Ministers.

Earlier, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter asked the OAS to condemn the Dominican Republic for aggression but opposed a Venezuelan demand for immediate penalties against that Caribbean nation.

Roa, speaking after Herter, told the conference that justice demands they "censure both the creater (the Dominican Republic) and its father (the United States)."

'Aided By U.S.'

The Cuban contended the Dominican regime of dictator Rafael Trujillo rose to power as a result of U.S. assistance "and has followed the line established by the United States."

He charged that no U.S. diplomat has ever attacked Trujillo "for all his crimes."

Roa went on to accuse the United States of economic aggression against Cuba, apparently referring to the 700,000-ton slash in Cuba's sugar quota ordered last month by President Eisenhower.

Canadians Beaten By Congo Troops

LUMUMBA SNUBS U.S. DIPLOMAT

Brussels (AP) — U.N. forces in Leopoldville received orders to shoot in cases of necessity, the Belgian Radio reported Thursday night.

U.N. troops at Leopoldville Airport also received the order to dig in around the airport, the radio added. U.N. officials in New York pointed out their troops may shoot in self defense if attacked.

The counter measures were ordered after the serious incidents at the airport Thursday in which a Congolese soldier severely injured a Canadian officer, the radio said.

Control Regained

Leopoldville, The Congo (AP) —Congolese Army riflemen kicked, clubbed and robbed a Canadian U.N. unit at Leopoldville Airport Thursday. Protesting sharply, the U.N. Command cracked down and reclaimed full control over the airport.

The savage incident, one of the series of clashes of Premier Patrice Lumumba's Negro troops with U.N. personnel, came as Lumumba himself delivered pointed snubs to U.S. Ambassador Clare H. Timberlake and U.N. Undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche.

The Congolese apparently mistook the Canadians, assigned to signal duty in the interior, for the Belgian troops they hate. Some were aboard a plane and others in jeeps when the Congolese struck. The Congolese totaled about 300; the Canadians little more than a dozen.

Thirty Congolese armed with rifles and submachine guns blocked the plane's takeoff.

Robbed of Wallets

The Canadians, two of whom wore wings and chevrons similar to the insignia of Belgian paratroopers, were robbed of their wallets and some arms.

Their Canadian French protests were shrugged off with a repeated charge that they were "Flemish Belgians."

Capt. Andre Taschereau of Montreal, the detachment's commander, was knocked unconscious by a rifle butt smashed into his right temple.

The Congolese forced some of the Canadians to lie on the ground and made one strip to his shorts.

Signalman Jose Mathieu of Quebec was kicked twice in the face.

Cpl. Robert Conroy of Kingston, Ont., suffered a blow on the back. He said a Congolese broke his rifle stock in delivering that blow.

(In Kingston, Conroy's wife, who gave birth to a baby boy Wednesday, said: "As far as I am concerned they can turn our troops right around and send them all home again.")

Help Rushed

Ghana U.N. troops rushed to help the Canadians.

They surrounded the party and, easing the Congolese away by persuasion and argument, took them to their quarters.

Taschereau, conscious again but shaky, was removed by stretcher. It was all over in about 12 minutes.

Under cover of Lumumba's martial law declaration, Congolese troops moved in uninvited Wednesday to share guard duty at the airport with Ghana troops of Maj. Gen. Carl Von Horn's U.N. forces.

The U.N. Congo command, concerned Wednesday over a clash of Congolese with a Norwegian detachment, rushed 3 additional companies to the airport after the attack on the Canadians. These were two companies of Sudanese and a Ghana company.

Gen. Victor Lundula, the ex-sergeant commanding the ill-disciplined Congolese forces, agreed to pull most of his men from the airport, leaving behind a token contingent of 30. The blue U.N. flag was hoisted again on the control tower.

East-West Trade Not Affected

. . . By U-2 Incident

Washington (AP) — The first official report on East-West trade since the U-2 incident and the Summit conference collapse indicates those episodes have had no effect on American business dealings with the Communist bloc.

Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller Thursday told Congress his department, during the April-June quarter, approved nearly 90% of all requests for permission to sell goods to Russia and her European satellites. This compared with 83% in the preceding 3 months.

Since the U-2 was shot down over Russia on May 1, the increased proportion of approved shipments indicated there was no immediate hardening of the U.S. government's attitude toward East-West trade as a result.

Commerce officials also reported that the volume of inquiries received from American firms gives no evidence of any lessening of business interests in dealings with the Iron Curtain countries.

Second Quarter Drop

Mueller's quarterly report did show a sharp second quarter drop in the dollar value of shipments approved by the Commerce Department. However, officials said they did not believe this was significant. They noted there were similiar second quarter declines in 3 of the past 4 years.

The value of goods licensed for export to the Communist bloc during the second quarter totaled $24,473,000 compared with $35,420,000 in the preceding 3 months.

However, rejected license applications totaled only $2,957,535 compared with $7,175,151 in the preceding quarter.

Third Recon Purchases 9 Land Tracts

Acquisition of 9 pieces of property in the northeast quarter block at 10th and O Sts. has been made by the Third Recon Corp. of Nebraska for $272,000, according to deeds filed with the county register of deeds.

Total cost of the property to be used for construction of the Crossroads Motor Hotel will be approximately $362,000, according to W. D. Ray, president of the corporation.

An additional two properties in the quarter-block area cost approximately $90,000, Ray said. Deeds are yet to be filed on these two properties.

Demo Group Set To Woo Businessmen

Washington (AP) — The Democrats set up a committee to woo the votes of business and professional people. It is headed by Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina.

Hodges said Sen. John F. Kennedy telephoned him last week to ask him to take the post and that he replied, "I'll be happy to do it."

After they conferred here, Kennedy and Hodges told reporters they felt "business would do well under a Democratic administration."

In a separate interview, Hodges said the committee "will be able to convince the country this Democratic ticket can provide a growing economy."

Hodges said clubs will be organized throughout the country to tell voters that presidential candidate Kennedy and his running mate, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, "will provide an administration good for business and good for labor."

Twinkly-Eyed Baruch Turns 90-Years-Old

New York (AP) — Bernard Baruch, his eyes still twinkling and alert, is 90 years old today.

"I feel wonderful," the financier and adviser to presidents told some 50 press, radio and television people who gathered in his apartment overlooking his favorite Central Park bench.

Baruch, spruce in a dark blue suit with a white carnation, expressed some surprise at the interest in his 90th birthday, but responded readily to questions on a variety of topics.

He declined repeatedly and good humoredly to give his opinions, however, on the 1960 presidential candidates.

Baruch did have this to say regarding candidates: youth and vigor are very important. There also is a certain wisdom to experience. A young man can learn.

Baruch appeared most interested in calling for a fight against inflation. He called it "the single greatest peril to our economic health."

Infamous Spears Pleads Guilty On Abortion Charge

Los Angeles (AP)—Dr. Robert Vernon Spears—who once avoided prosecution because he was believed dead in an airliner crash—pleaded guilty to one count of abortion.

The 65-year-old naturopath will appear in municipal court Sept. 8 for sentencing.

He has already started serving a federal prison term at Terminal Island, Calif., for interstate transportation of a stolen auto.

He had been scheduled to go on trial on the abortion charge last December, but the case was dismissed when the court was informed Spears had been killed with 41 others in a plane crash in the Gulf of Mexico.

Decker Army Chief

Appointed To Take Lemnitzer's Place

Washington (AP) — President Eisenhower Thursday nominated Gen. George Henry Decker to be the 22nd chief of staff of the Army.

He would succeed Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, who has been selected to move up to the chairmanship of the Joint Chiefs of Staff when Air Force Gen. Nathan F. Twining retires later this year.

The 58-year-old Decker, now Army vice chief, entered the Army in 1924 after graduating from Lafayette College, Pa., with a degree in economics.

Unlike most Army officers who have risen to high rank in this century, Decker saw no service outside of the United States or Hawaii until he went to New Guinea in 1943 to become deputy chief and then chief of staff of the 6th Army under Gen. Walter Krueger.

This Army was the major field command through which Gen. Douglas MacArthur operated from Australia back to the Philippines in World War II.

Born in Catskill, N.Y., he is rated a good golfer, likes to bowl and enjoys hunting.

WORRIED TOURISTS GET AWAY

. . . From Britain

Southampton, Eng. (UPI)—The liner Queen Elizabeth jammed with American tourists, sailed for New York 39 minutes ahead of schedule Thursday after the crew refused to join a wildcat strike by British seamen.

Passengers lining the rails cheered when the 83,000-ton liner pulled away from the dockside. They had feared the Elizabeth would be halted as was the Queen Mary last week with 1,800 passengers.

The 37,500-ton liner Windsor Castle sailed on a maiden voyage for South Africa, but the strike forced cancellation of the sailing of two other ships—the Carinthia, scheduled out of Liverpool Thursday for Canada, and the Empress of England, scheduled out of Liverpool Friday for Montreal.

The Cunard line chartered two Boeing-707 jet airliners to carry more than 300 Carinthia passengers to New York. Other passengers were transferred to the Caronia, due to sail for New York Saturday. A Cunard spokesman predicted no difficulties on the Caronia's sailing.

London Press Expects Leniency For Powers

London (AP)—An impression developed Thursday that U-2 Pilot Francis Gary Powers will receive a fairly lenient sentence from the Soviet court trying him for espionage.

London's Evening News summed up the attitude with a banner headline reading: "Powers Doing Fine."

Powers could receive a death sentence or imprisonment up to 15 years. The News said that in Moscow itself it was felt that he will not get more than 5 years.

London's Evening Standard played up the capabilities of the equipment in the downed U-2 plane under a headline reading: "The seven eyes of the flying spy."

The correspondent for the Manchester Guardian said Powers in his testimony built up a picture of himself as the pawn of more powerful figures.

"He presented himself as a poor deluded jerk from Virginia—and the part, I suspect, did not require much playing," the Guardian's correspondent wrote.

Comment of Radio Moscow indicated there was a clear Soviet purpose in making Powers appear like a witless tool.

The radio said the people who organized the U-2 flight are actually "the main defendants, though not yet in the dock."

"It is they who like Powers—only to a much greater extent and with astonishing cynicism and cowardice—are now compelled to dodge, shift and shuffle, to cover up their traces," it said.

This same broadcast attacked President Eisenhoer's news conference remarks Wednesday in which he denied the United States was on trial.

The President, who said the Russians violated international custom in refusing to let American diplomats see Powers before the trial, was accused of engaging in "the lowest, hackneyed anti-Soviet slander."

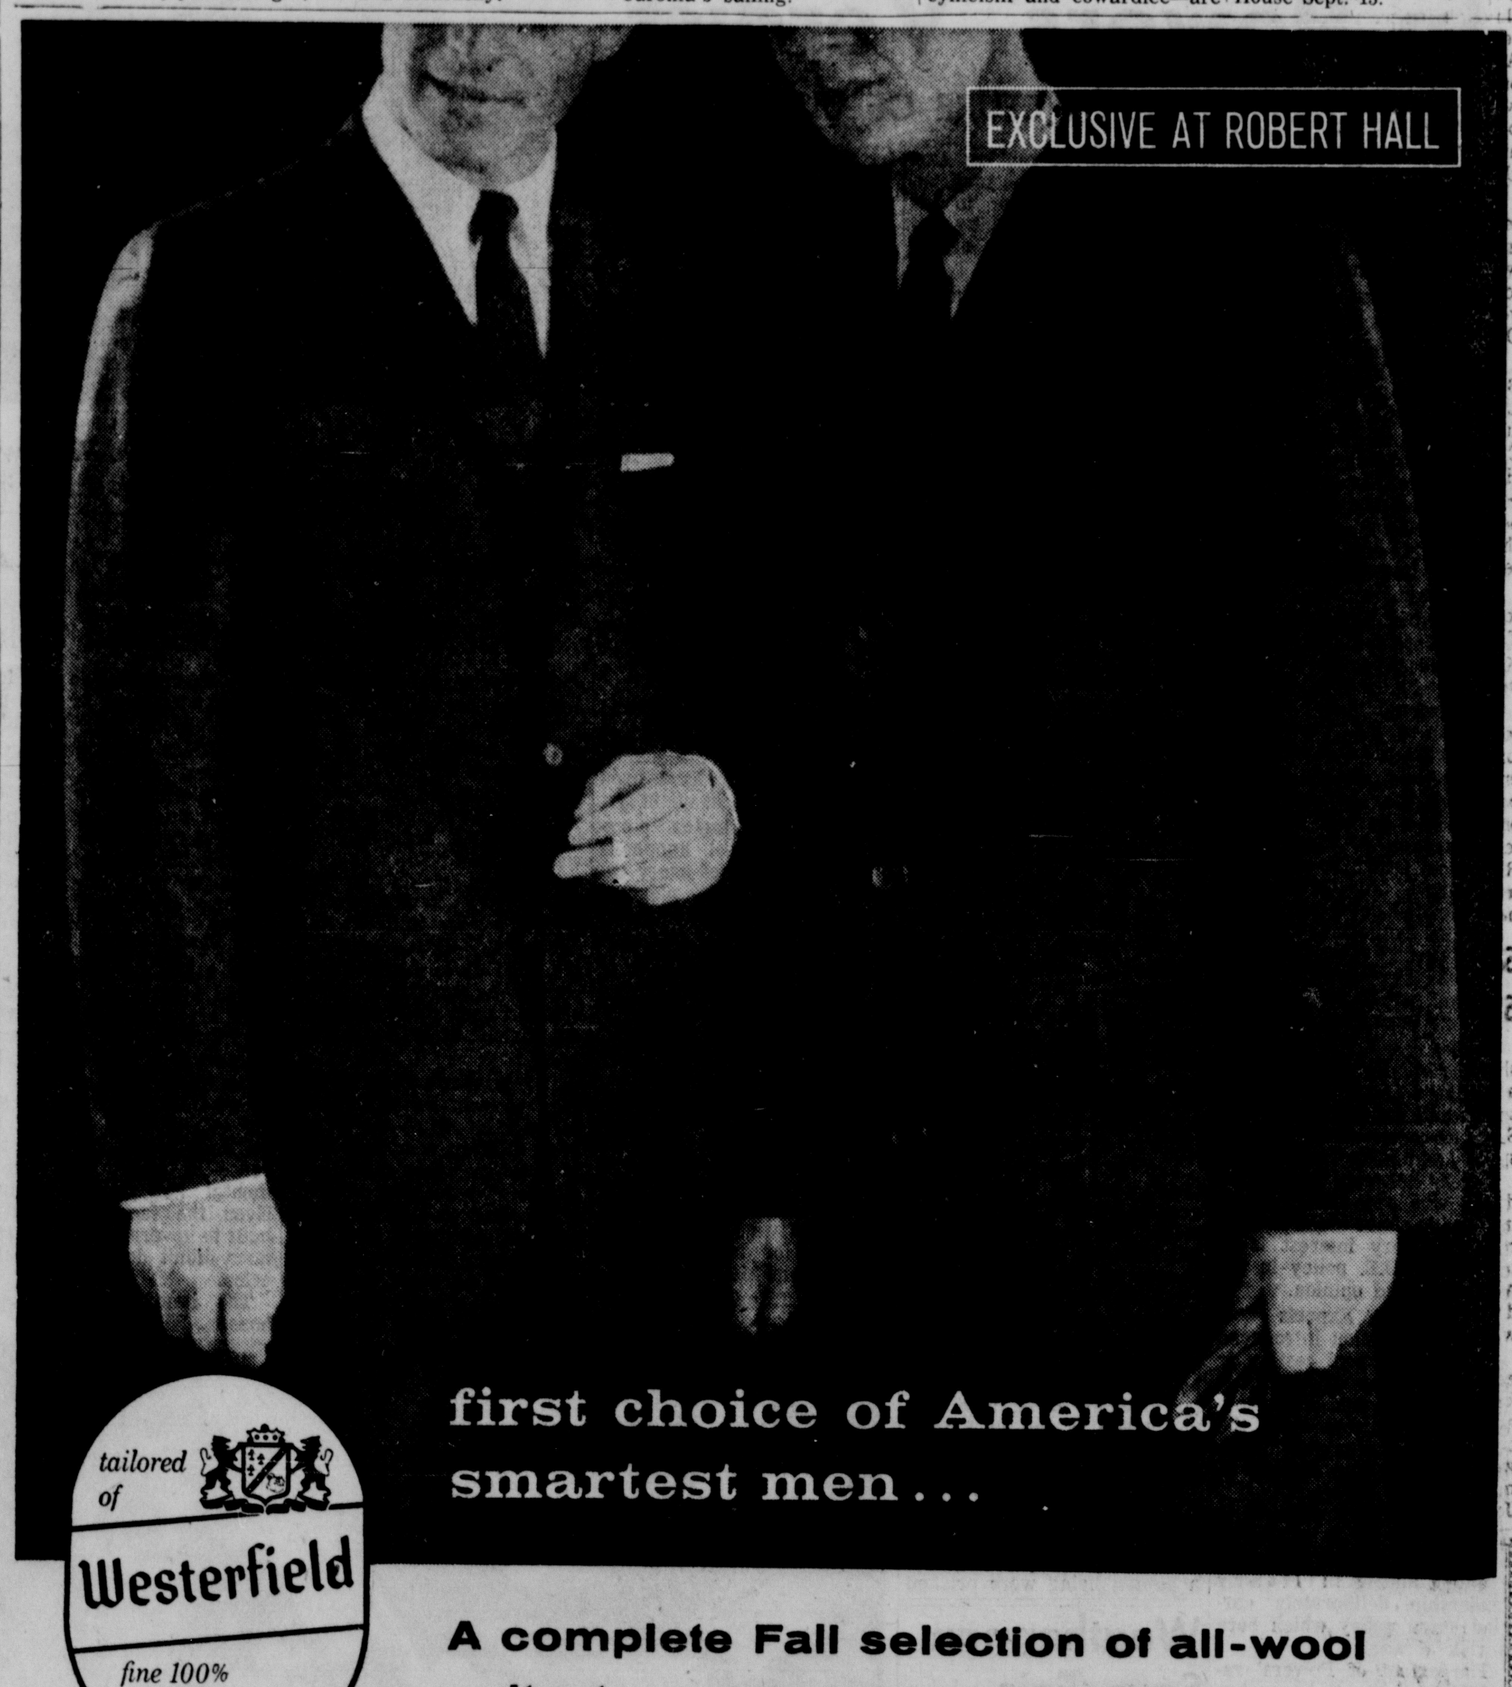

Belgians Plan To Revise Their NATO Obligation

Brussels, Belgium (AP)—Premier Gaston Eyskens told the House of Representatives Belgium intends to ask in October for a revision of Belgian obligations toward the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Belgium is resentful over lack of support from its NATO allies on the Belgians' Congo position.

The House immediately gave Eyskens' government a 115-82 vote of confidence. There were 6 abstentions.

The vote approved past government policy and gave support to plans to present a new program for the future.

Eyskens announced his cabinet will be reshuffled. He said he plans to present a new government program and a reorganized cabinet to the House Sept. 13.

Muddy Grounds At Gage Fair Keeps Crowd Down To 2,000

By Gene Budig

Beatrice — It's county fair time again in the Big Blue River Valley.

Only this year, the fair festivities are taking a back seat to Old Mother Nature.

With the recent downpours of rain, Gage County fairgoers have been forced to check in their straw hats and checker shirts for overshoes and umbrellas.

Early Thursday the grounds gave the appearance of Farmer Brown's pig wallow.

Despite the adverse conditions, 2,000 persons sloshed around the grounds to view the bigger-than-ever fair.

The fair, which opened Wednesday, will close Saturday night.

Officials are still hopeful that at least 10,000 persons will tour the fairground sites.

Thursday's activity revolved around the 4-H Building where all day home economics judging was held.

"Everything around here has been dampened except the youngsters' spirit," one Gage County home extension agent said.

The agent termed the judging competition an overall success.

Purple ribbon winners were:

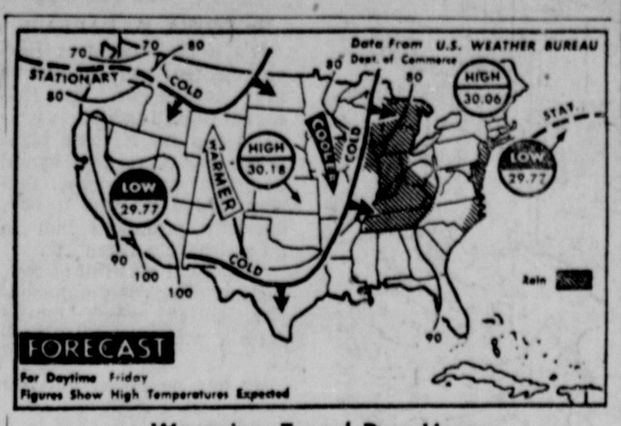

Foods—Patty Heist of Pickrell, Sandra Schachenmeyer of Clatonia, and Meredith Hesser of Cortland.

Clothing—Linda Morton of Beatrice, Caren Westphal of Liberty and Karen Remmers of Beatrice.

Home Living—Virginia Ulrich of DeWitt and Gaye Mason of Holmesville.

Some 300 young 4-H gals competed for ribbons in these divisions.

In all, more than 400 of the county's 4-H'ers vied for honors in all classes.

Warming Trend Due Here

Showers are forecast for lower Lakes region Friday with thundershowers in Ohio and Tennessee Valleys. Rain is expected in the middle Atlantic coast area. Widely scattered thunndershowers are anticipated for the Gulf coast. It will be warmer in the central and northern Plains and cooler in the middle and upper Mississippi Valley, and Washington state can expect lower temperatures. Little change in temperature is expected elsewhere. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Dr. C. L. Fawl Joins Staff At Wesleyan

The appointment of Dr. Clifford L. Fawl as chairman of the Wesleyan University department of psychology, was announced today by President Vance D. Rogers.

Dr. Fawl

Dr. Fawl will replace Dr. Roy W. Deal who retired last spring after 41 years as a Wesleyan staff member.

A native of Topeka, Kas. where he went through the public school system, Dr. Fawl earned the A.B. degree at the University of Michigan in 1952 where he was an honors graduate in psychology. He holds the M.A. and Ph.D degrees from the University of Kansas.

Dr. Fawl comes to the Wesleyan position from an assignment as a research associate with the Midwest Psychological Field Station of the University of Kansas, located at Oskaloosa.

Two of his papers—"Goal Blockage in the Everyday Lives of Children," and "Disturbances Experienced by Children in Their Natural Habitats," have been read before learned societies and he is currently engaged in the preparation of two chapters for a psychology book.

Dr. Fawl is married to the former Barbara Norene Lee. The Fawls are the parents of four children — Suzan, Laraine, Randall and Kevin.

The psychologist is a past president of the Oskaloosa Lions club, an active supporter of the Little League Baseball program, and a member of the American Psychological Association, Society for Research in Child Development and Sigma Xi, national honorary science society.

Economy Sets Record Pace In Second Quarter

Washington (AP) — Final figures confirm earlier official estimates that the nation's economy was running at a record annual rate of 505 billion dollars in the April-June quarter.

This level represented an increase of nearly 1% over the January-March rate of 501 billions.

These figures constitute the gross national product, which is the broadest of all economic indicators and measures the value of all goods and services produced in the 50 states.

Final Commerce Department reports were in line with preliminary estimates made a month ago by President Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers. The total figures were the same and there were only minor differences in various components.

Americans In Laos Are Safe

Washington (AP) — The State Department said the safety of Americans and their property in Laos has been assured by the new neutralist government of Premier Souvanna Phouma.

Press officer Lincoln White said U.S. Ambassador Winthrop Brown had talked to the prime minister and had also talked with Capt. Kong Le, leader of a rebellion which ousted the pro-Western government of Premier Tiao Somsanith.

White said the ambassador has reported that Americans in the capital city of Vientiane are not being molested.

There are 753 Americans in Laos and the bulk of these are located in Vientiane.

White was asked whether the new government has informed the United States about its policy of continuing American military aid.

White replied that the situation is not yet clear on that matter.

Shooting Rumors Spread In Cuba

Havana (AP)—Rumors of shooting in Cienfuegos and of a clash between Castro forces and counter-revolutionaries at Santa Clara in central Cuba spread through this capital.

The government clamped down on all military news in the wake of a reported roundup of Cuban navy plotters and would-be defectors. As a result, confirmation or denial of rumors of fighting was impossible.

Apparently the Castro government is trying hard to keep the naval conspiracy and resulting arrests of sailors a secret because of the western hemisphere foreign ministers meeting at San Jose, Costa Rica.

Gateway And Downtown Sales Both Draw Crowds

Shoppers crowded into Lincoln retail stores like flies to honey Thursday, attracted by the irresistable combination of bargains, special events and store openings.

Crowds thronged to the new Gateway Shopping Center at 63rd and O, where the new Montgomery Ward store held ribbon-cutting ceremonies at 10 a.m. and reported capacity crowds throughout the day.

Downtown stores, observing Dollar Days, attracted crowds that measured up to those of the fall football season, a surprising turnout for August.

T. C. O'Donnell, Dollar Days chairman, reported that Thursday's fair weather attracted back-to-school shoppers in large numbers, plus many out-of-town shoppers. He added that retail stores in the downtown area experienced "an excellent day."

At suburban Gateway Shopping Center, visitors and shoppers boosted attendance crowds "above expectations."

O. C. Adams, general district manager for Wards, termed the store opening "the most successful of any Wards store in the Midwest and Southeast regions."

Crowds jammed the shopping center, where Kresge's and the Gateway Bank were also operating in their new locations.

Traffic Jams Up At Gateway

Police reported traffic was jamming up Thursday at the 61st and O St. entrance to the newly-opened Gateway Shopping Center.

Lt. Reynold McMeen offered these two alternate routes to get into the shopping center without having to go out O St.:

—Use the entrance off No. Cotner Blvd. which is about 3 blocks north of Cotner and O.

—Or if approaching from the south take Randolph St. to Lyncrest Dr. then follow Lyncrest until it junctions with O St. A third entrance to the shopping center is located directly across from the Lyncrest and O intersection.

Bridegroom Did Indeed 'Take' Bride, Others

Omaha (AP) — A 27-year-old bridegroom promised "to take this woman" and police said he apparently had done just that. In fact, officers said, he took or attempted to take quite a few persons.

Detective Sgts. Charles Crick and Stephen Petrucon is told this story:

The man met a 27-year-old woman a couple of weeks ago and wooed and won her while using a phony name. This week he got a marriage license under the assumed name and married her.

The man then called up a fashionable motel and a hotel to arrange fancy wedding parties. This was where the mistake was made.

One of the firms checked his credit rating and discovered his true name. It also was learned he had a record of no-account and insufficient fund checks.

As investigation progressed, it was found he had bought a new car under the phony name. The dealer repossessed the car.

The woman said Thursday she never had known his right name, and after their marriage, he left each morning, explaining he was going to work.

On his wedding day, he told the bride his paycheck hadn't come and he needed money. She gave him $100.

Thursday he was in custody while investigation continued.

Offer Revealed To Purchase 90% Bus Firm Stock

Omaha (AP) — The president of Omaha Transit Co. reported that an offer has been made to buy 90% of the stock of the firm which operates the city's bus lines.

L. G. Barnes said American Transportation Enterprises Inc. has a 60-day option to buy the common and preferred stock now owned by a group of Texans who control the firm. The latter group owns about 70% of the stock.

Barnes said the Omaha National Bank has been appointed dispersing agent and $1,471,000 has been deposited in escrow.

American Transportation has offered to pay $100 a share for preferred and $10 a share for common, with the Texans to get $2 a share additionally for their common stock.

If less than 90% of the stock is offered, American may determine whether to accept the lesser amount.

21 Buried In Mud After Dam Breaks

Torrelavega, Spain (UPI)—A dam cracked open with "a series of explosions that sounded like a salvo of cannons," unleashing a sea of water and mud which buried at least 21 persons.

Julio Lubena, a spokesman for the company which owned the dam, said, "there are probably more dead, buried in the mud."

Torrelavega, in the heart of a mining, cattle and lumbering area, lies 14 miles southwest of Santander, capital of Santander province in northern Spain.

The bursting dam dumped tons of water and an estimated 50,000 cubic yards of mud and sand on a row of miners' houses, wiping out two families and leaving a few survivors "numb with shock," Lubena said.

The dam, owned by the Belgian Compagnie Royal Asturianne de Mines, held water for washing zinc and iron ore mined below it.

The force of the water and mud crushed 6 buildings, including a hospital, in the company-owned town below the dam which gave way after a series of landslides had built up pressure behind it.

When the water subsided, several square miles of the basin below the dam lay blanketed with up to 5 feet of mud.

'Sleeping Beauty' Lawyers Working For Postponement

Cleveland, Ohio (UPI) —Attorneys worked on strategy aimed at postponing the juvenile court hearing Friday for Mrs. Lillian Fratantonio, 29, who admitted feeding sleeping potions to her two small daughters.

The attorneys said they did not have medical records required to present the case, and have been unable to talk to their client at any length because of her health.

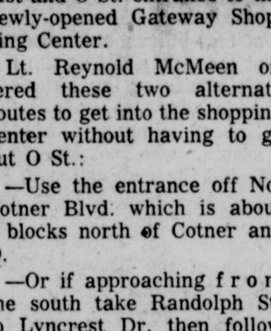

The petite mother, who gave birth to her 5th child last week, has a court date on a charge of child neglect arising from the drugging of Bernadette, 3, and Venita, 5.

Future Of Agriculture

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Democratic candidate for governor Frank Morrison would have to look a long time to find any disagreement with one of his most recent statements. The statement was that the next administration in Washington should enlist the service of Nebraska State Department of Agriculture Director Pearle Finigan as national secretary of agriculture.

In his short period of service to date to Nebraska, Finigan has made an outstanding impression upon everyone who knows him, regardless of political party affiliation. He is a man who firmly believes in the future of the farm belt and he has worked diligently for that future while serving as Nebraska director. Under the administration of Gov. Ralph Brooks, Finigan has inaugurated a most promising program of research into industrial uses for farm products. This is a program unique among all the states and ahead even of the federal government which is still bogged down in the area of research. It is complimentary too, but not in conflict with the various activities conducted by the University of Nebraska by way of improvements for agriculture.

Unique Plan For State

Finigan, of course, has also had the assistance of men in business and industry and the aid of a special research levy established by the Legislature. What he has done in the development of new cash crops for farmers and for new markets for other crops he could not have done all by himself. But he has provided the leadership which has welded together a program that is working for Nebraska.

He has taken the tools that were available to him and embarked upon an ambitious and productive course of action. By way of new crops this action is already paying good dividends right out on the farm. It will continue to do this in a constantly expanding way and it will eventually be augmented by new market dividends to spring from research.

Where Finigan stands in what has become the politics of agriculture is not a position which will find such unanimous agreement as there is to his ability. He is a staunch supporter of the Democratic platform plank on agriculture which calls for support prices at 90 per cent of parity and controlled production. In the case of controlled production he will not even be in agreement with Mr. Morrison. But differences in this area are to be expected and are not a reflection upon the ability of any man. When two people differ, it is not axiomatic that one is an idiot.

The position taken by Finigan in the matter of supports and controls has logic and common sense on its side if one grants that there is any problem to be solved. The present program of low price supports and partial or no limits has been a dismal failure. It has cost the government more to run the Department of Agriculture jn the past eight years than in all the past history of the department put together. And all this fantastic outlay of money has failed to make any improvement in the farm situation.

Thousands and thousands of Nebraska farmers are just hanging on by a thread at this time and another year or two of present or worsening conditions will finish them off. Thousands more have already been finished off as the prices they pay for things climbed to record highs and the prices they got for their products fell or remained steady.

The higher, rigid support plan would do two things — it would reduce government costs and would provide the farmer with a fair share of the nation's economy. By bringing production into compliance with demand the government would not find itself the owner of wast surpluses and the natural tendency of the market price on corn and wheat would be toward a level with the government's support program.

Thus, corn and wheat sold, in effect, to the government would not result in any substantial loss to the government when the crop moved into market channels. It is difficult to understand how the farm problem is ever to be solved without production controls. Finigan sees the realism of the cost-price squeeze as it affects farmers today and knows that the condition will not be solved by itself. He would never be an agricultural administrator who paid lip service to the principles of economic equality for the farmer but failed to act toward that goal. He knows that a prosperous agriculture is a vital part of the machinery of the rest of the nation's economy.

Recognition And Action

The state ag director has also demonstrated an ability to work well with different groups and to get the most out of conflicting points of view. This would be a valuable asset in dealing with Congress. If Sen. John F. Kennedy should be successful in November he could do no better anywhere than he would with Finigan as secretary of agriculture.

Hoffa Help Or Hindrance?

When James Hoffa, head of the Teamsters Union, endorsed Gov. Ralph Brooks for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Sen. Carl Curtis it was said that the controversial labor leader actually assisted Curtis in his campaign for re-election. There is no question, of course, that Hoffa's endorsement of Brooks will do him no good.

Few, indeed, are the labor union members who would vote according to the desires of the Teamsters official. But it is very doubtful that Hoffa's endorsement will have any adverse effect upon Brooks. The fact is that the public is not naive enough to believe that Brooks has anything to do with what Hoffa says.

The same thing is true of the situation between Vice President Richard Nixon, Sen. John F. Kennedy and Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev. It is said that if Khrushchev displays a desire for Kennedy's election it will help elect Nixon. The fault in this lies in the fact, again, that the American people are not so foolish as to think that Kennedy has any affinity with Khrushchev because of any endorsement or support from the communist leader.

If a horse thief would endorse Nixon would that mean that the vice president was, also, a horse thief? If we followed that sort of logic all the deranged, incompetent and immoral people of the world would rule things. Through inverse reactions from their endorsements they could virtually dictate the outcome of every election.

Voters in Nebraska will be smart enough to realize that Hoffa's endorsement of Brooks really means nothing at all. Curtis has said that it shows where Brooks is obtaining financial support but Curtis has been trying to sell this idea for so long that it has now become stale. The votes Hoffa will control in Nebraska in any way will never make or break any candidate.

Liquidity And Recovery

Recently the Federal Reserve Board made its second reduction in the rediscount rates in a little over two months. Last June it dropped the rate to 3.5 per cent. Now it has instructed four of its 12 regional banks to cut to 3 per cent. If the reduction follows the pattern it will soon extend to all the regions.

The rediscount rate is that charged to member banks seeking liquid funds by borrowing on collateral representing bank loans already made.

The FR spokesman justified the new lower rate as a technical adjustment to market rates. But that was an over simplification. A more important fact is that business over the nation has soft spots. The steel industry has not bounced back as expected. There is more than 40 billion in short term consumer loans and by and large new home building has slowed up.

The cut in the rediscount rate may encourage a little looser money, but there is no indication yet that general lending rates are ready to go down. In fact the prime commercial rate, which is the rate charged by the huge banks to the nation's biggest and best borrowers, has remained unchanged since September 1959 and it is at the highest level at which it has stood since 1931. It is a fallacy to conclude that liquidity automatically makes for looser credit. It simply makes for liquidity. It takes a more willing lending attitude, plus sufficiently attractive terms, plus the borrower's desire to achieve venture.

On that chain of facts it would be well to examine the recent policy of many of the prime lenders which is requiring the borrowers to keep a substantial portion of their loans on report with the lending bank. This makes fine business for the bank, but it has a penalty effect on the expansion of borrowing and is apt to contribute more to non-recovery of the business pace than the reduction of the rediscount rate in the opposite direction.

Early Day Soil Bank

The federal government recently settled a question which has been before the house since the early 30's.

It decided that some 4,000,000 acres of semi-arid land acquired by the government during the depression's dust bowl years shall be forever dedicated to grass, never more to be broken to the plow for submarginal cultivation.

The decision served to refresh the memory. The principle of the government buying land out of production is not an innovation developed by the Benson administration. It was applied by the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration in at least three ways. One was to hire out western wheat land season by season in an effort to cut down surpluses and bolster the price of wheat. It was self-defeating in it led to the discovery of summer fallowing, now generally practiced. Another with the direct price support system which applied acreage allotments.

The third—represented by the 4 million acres currently at attention—came about by direct acquisition of submarginal land when the dust bowl drove the owners out of business. The government restored it to grass to create drought proof plains. Except for some re-breaking due to the necessity of World War II, the land over the years has served a useful purpose for limited grazing. The decision to keep it so, makes good sense.

But it is a commentary on present day thinking that the modern soil bank is a greatly worse deal. It is hiring out land without acquiring equity and reserving it for a limited period of years. Such an open end arrangement will sooner or later confront the country with a dilemma. If the land is returned to cultivation the surpluses will get further out of control. If it is not then the taxpayers will face a continuing burden of buying something it will never get.

Khrushchev Fears War By Accident

Washington —Nikita Khrushchev has a problem resulting from the cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit to Moscow. And he got advice the other day from none other than burly Joe Curran, president of the National Maritime Union, on how to solve it.

"I have something I frankly don't know what to do with," Khrushchev told Curran who was visiting Russia at the invitation of the Russian Sea and Rivers Workers Union. "An American company sent me a set of golf clubs which I was supposed to give President Eisenhower. However, since he is not coming to the Soviet Union, I am at a loss about what disposition to make of the gift."

"That's easy," advised Curran. "I suggest you learn to play golf."

This led to a Khrushchev wisecrack about American presidential elections.

"Your country is sometimes funny," he told Curran, "as for example the way you choose your presidents. Roosevelt proved that a president could serve for life. Truman proved that anyone could be elected. Eisenhower proved that your country can be run without a president."

Khrushchev has not seen many visiting Americans in the past year—in fact none since the abortive Summit Conference. And his talk with Curran was significant, not for its wisecracks but for two chief points—his fear of a war "by accident" and the scheduled industrial build-up of the Sovit Union.

☆ ☆ ☆

Khrushchev boasted that Russia would be able to completely subjugate the United States and its free world allies by economic means in 20 years—without resorting to military force.

"We will produce 65,000,000 tons of steel this year," he predicted.

"Next year our production will be 71,000,000 tons, surpassing the United States."

"If you do, it will be because our mills will be operating at partial capacity," Curran countered. "Have you thought about that? Capability is the big thing. Our production figures do not always reflect that."

"Nonetheless, we will match or surpass you in that also by 1965, when our steel production will reach 91,000,000 tons," replied Khrushchev. "That is more than present plans call for. We are now developing a 20-year plan whereby we will be producing 240,000,000 tons of steel in 1980. Our chemical industries also are bringing in steel substitutes which will be ready by that time.

"By 1980 our production of all major commodities will be twice as great as the United States."

Girl Reporter Irks Eisenhower

WASHINGTON—The President of the United States went along for 20 minutes with an air of tranquility that gave his press conference a touch of over-the-teacups informality instead of what it was: A formal encounter with the nation's great journalistic minds.

I really thought he had it made this time. This was going to be one press conference at which Eisenhower wouldn't flip his temper.

But I was wrong. I neglected to reckon with the young lady sitting in front of me—the one who holds the U.S. record for rankling our chief executive.

The President strode into the jammed den of inquisitors at the precise moment that the red second hand swept across the top of the wall clock dial, at 10:30 a.m.

His affability was matched by the pleasant glow of crimson tan that reached from his neck across his face and over his bare pate—the result of restful days in the Rhode Island sun.

☆ ☆ ☆

Now, a scant five feet from him, the rankling correspondent arose, asked her sharp question—and the morning's reverie was over.

The interrogator, Sarah McClendon, who represents a number of newspapers over the country, has accomplished what few reporters have achieved. She has drawn the President into full awareness of her. Rarely a news conference goes by that she doesn't slip in a hot question.

Last May Mrs. McClendon hit her puckish peak when she placed before the nation's commander-in-chief a military query. Didn't he realize, she then asked, that our country should step up production of military weapons?

With unbridled irritation, the President snapped at Mrs. McClendon—a former private in the WACs—that she probably knew more about military affairs than did he, a former five-star general.

☆ ☆ ☆

Now, Sarah's needle was working on the Cuban situation. In view of recent changes in the State Department, said the reporter, she presumed this was an admission of U.S. mistakes.

The old telltale crimson superimposed itself on the President's suntan, from jowl to cheekbone. The newswoman went on: "Now, I wonder . . . if you would tell us who were making the mistakes?"

"Well!" huffed our President, "you must be asking for some kind of white paper." We laughed about that. But Eisenhower didn't. He went on to say, sternly, that he knew of no blunder, and sees no reason for anybody apologizing for what happened in the past.

Undaunted in this rebuff, Mrs. McClendon rose again. She had another question. "Well, sir," said she, "may I . . . ?"

Uchivalrously — or was it expediently? — the President of the United States said, "no, thank you." He wheeled to another questioner.

It was a rough moment for a man who holds press conferences, not as a requirement but as a courtesy to the press and public. Thus, another try for a no-temper session went out the window.

Maybe the next time . . .

Children, Precious Worries

By MONA B. PARKER

It's a fact, declares Harold Spence, you really can hear corn grow. The Holdrege Citizen editor suggests you try it some night if it's too warm and humid and you can't sleep, anyway. When he was a boy, curiosity prompted him to go and have a listen . . .

"The field was full of soft, rustling, crackling and snapping noises, which I was certain was corn stretching out."

He has no proof, but has heard that a stalk will grow as much as six inches in a single night. If this is true, one could see it expand as well as hear the audible progress.

Mrs. Eleanor Seberger, writing in the Dawson County Herald, was worrying and with good cause over the many outdoor hazards for little folks this time of year. An irrigation ditch runs on two sides of the Seberger farm, and it has been a source of constant concern to the family for 21 years . . .

"Summertimes on the farm can be wonderful to a child, but we all want them to live to remember them."

Each generation has its own tragedies, she says. "Years ago, it was being kicked by horses, run over by machinery, or blood-poisoning. Times have changed but children have not. "Their carelessness places an added burden on parents, but no one can deny they're worth it!"

York seems to have more than its share of lively and imaginative small-fry. Another, six-year-old Rodney Ratzlaff, is not much on remembering names, but he never forgets a face. He visited the Black Hills and was much impressed with the carvings on Mount Rushmore there . . .

As he put it, "Boy, I'll never forget those four stooges."

California boasts a variety of things, among them the proverbial honest man. A couple from Sargent, stopping at a service station in the sunny state, left their billfold behind and discovered the loss some time later. Giving it up for lost, they were most happy to receive the missing item through the mail with all contents intact.

Summer fun is already over for one small unfortunate boy. Ten-year-old Kenny Anderson of York tumbled from a tree house recently, lit on a paved street, and broke both bones in his right arm. Three days later he fell on the sidewalk and broke his left arm . . . now has both arms in identical casts. But, boylike, he takes the optimistic view. Baseball activity was almost over, anyway.

Two California women were completely disgusted when they reached Lodgepole, not with the town or our state, but because their small foreign car had conked out on them and no parts were available for repair. They made arrangements to ship the little limousine by freight and purchased train tickets for themselves for their trip to New York.

The hibiscus is an exquisite flower, says Ethel Comstock in the Orleans Chronicle. The only drawback is that the blossom lasts just a day. But, she philosophizes, "if those lovely blossoms lasted days, we would probably class them with hollyhocks which we consider very ordinary, so maybe the short life of the hibiscus blossom is what makes it such a delight."

The O'Neill Frontier takes rather a pessimistic outlook on the new meat-tenderizing process that consists of injecting an enzyme into beef that's still on the hoof. Supposedly the new idea will make low-ranking meat cuts as tender as the prime cuts.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Candidates See A-Test Controls Alike

WASHINGTON — In this pre-campaign interval, Sen. John F. Kennedy and his team are, with characteristic thoroughness, touching every base. The candidate and his strategy board know how important organization can be in a close race and they are working hard to repair any damage done by the factional fighting at the Democratic convention in Los Angeles.

This involves issues as well as personalities. It means enlisting for the big struggle those on the liberal-left whose ardor for the triumph of convictions and causes is at least as great as the simple desire of the officeholder to win. One such is Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, who not only contested the nomination in primaries in Wisconsin and West Virginia but at Los Angeles got himself crosswise of the Kennedy flanking movement.

Now, however, the two have sat down together, and Humphrey says he is happy about the stand the presidential candidate will take on the issue that means most to him. Humphrey is chairman of a Senate disarmament Subcommittee and more than anyone on either side of the aisle he has applied himself to the complex problem of arms control and the effort to put an end under a strict inspection-control system to nuclear testing.

As a result of their talk, Humphrey is convinced that Kennedy will take a strong stand for continuing the nuclear test negotiations in Geneva so long as there is the slightest hope of coming to an agreement with the Soviets.

The candidate will also call for a greatly expanded program of research into improved means for inspecting and controlling not only nuclear tests, but various disarmament measures. He will call, too, for some kind of peace agency that will work for all these goals with the essential resources of men and money. In short, peace would no longer be a sort of poor stepchild pushed about from one department to another.

But if the expectation was that nuclear testing would become a partisan issue in the campaign Vice-President Richard Nixon provided a quick antidote. In response to a question put to him in Maine, he said that he believed testing should not be resumed so long as there was a chance for success in the Geneva talks.

For those who see in the steady worsening of East-West relations a drift from cold war to eventual hot war, this will be welcome. In this political interval, it may not be possible for the Eisenhower administration to take any steps that might help to get the Geneva talks off dead center. But so long as the negotiations go on, hope remains.

The whole matter is just now in a perplexing, frustrating gray zone. The Soviets have made some proposals —15 control stations on their territory, three on-site inspections—that indicate a desire to continue bargaining. But the Americans complain that they have rejected the scientific basis for research into further detection methods on wholly political grounds and they attribute the stalemate primarily to this.

This has been a signal for the advocates of testing to start a renewed drive. Edward Teller, the physicist who played a leading part in developing the hydrogen bomb and who has become perhaps the chief protagonist of more tests and more powerful weapons, is writing a series of articles that argue that progress can be achieved only through actual testing. With Chairman John McCone of the Atomic Energy Commission, he has exerted a major influence behind the scenes to end the present situation which, they insist, is in effect a moratorium without inspection and control.

Both sides in the dispute have become emotionally involved. Unquestionably, further tests could reduce the size of nuclear warheads and therefore step up the ratio of explosive power to rocket thrust. While McCone is reported to argue that the Soviets are now secretly testing, in a letter to Humphrey he said he had no evidence of it.

What this ignores, as the other side sees it, is that the explosive power per rocket would be at the cost of permitting other nations to develop their own nuclear weapons. And while there is still a chance to achieve international control, it should not be sacrificed for a more powerful deterrent, and especially when that deterrent is claimed to be two or three times more than enough to do the job of retaliatory destruction.

The ultimate decision is obviously one that, with so many others, will be waiting for the new president to take next year. But a great many voters will listen for a clue as to how each candidate will meet it.

Keep Shirt On

York, Neb.

I take exception to the article written by Phyllis Battelle and published on your editorial page on August 15. Men have not lost, but are winning the battle for decency and respect in their dress habits.

Ladies of today are shocked and ashamed by the way some women and girls dress and parade the streets as if they were at a bathing beach.

Judges and juries today should require the female in the assault or rape case to bring into court the costume (if you could call it that) she was wearing at the time of the attack.

There is nothing nicer for a man to wear than a nice white shirt with French cuffs and collar, tie, and hat with a nice light summer suit. That is cooler than exposing one's skin to the hot burning sun. Men even wear respectable clothing on the golf course. The sloppy Joe woman or man is out of date.

Wake up women! It is not too late to be a lady who everyone admires.

Herter Asked About State Dept. 'Turnabout'

Washington (AP) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter was asked Thursday night to say whether a campaign aide to Richard M. Nixon influenced the State Department's turnabout decision to offer funds to transport African students to this country.

Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee made the request. He wrote Herter he understood the department reversed an earlier unfavorable decision because of "intercession" by James Shepley, who is working for Nixon's election to the presidency.

"We find this sequence of events most disturbing," Fulbright told Herter in a letter posing a series of questions and asking the answers to them "not later than next Monday."

Herter is in Costa Rica for a meeting of foreign ministers of the Organization of American States and may not get back to Washington until the end of next week. Presumably, other officials could reply to Fulbright, however.

The matter of the African students — 250 of them needing a total of $100,000 in travel funds — has become an issue in the presidential contest between Nixon and Democratic Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa) started it all by saying a Kennedy family foundation had tried to slip in and outbid the government for the privilege of paying the Africans' fare "for blatant political purposes."

'Playing Politics'

Kennedy and other Democrats disputed and denounced Scott's conclusions. They suggested the Republicans — not Kennedy — were trying to play politics to gain votes from U.S. Negroes.

Fulbright, in his letter to Herter, demanded to know, among other things, "when and how was Mr. Shepley informed" about the decision to go ahead with the project.

Fulbright released the letter after telling reporters he also would ask the State Department for copies of "every letter, communication and memorandum" involved in the department's first denial, and then its approval of a request for the money.

'Airlift, Africa'

The controversy centered around efforts of the African-American Students Foundation to transport scholarship students to study in U.S. colleges under a project known "as Airlift Africa, 1960."

Nixon's press secretary said Thursday the vice president urged the State Department to reconsider its decision against the airlift program.

Herbert G. Klein, the secretary, said that at the time Nixon made the request for reconsideration, however, he was not aware of a private fund offer.

"This is not a matter of politics," Klein said when asked about Scott's statements.

Jackie Robinson, retired Negro baseball player to whom Shepley communicated the State Department's change of position and approval of the project, had lunch with Nixon Thursday.

"They discussed a wide range of subjects, possibly including civil rights, and maybe even baseball," Klein told newsmen, declining to give further comment on the meeting.

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, said a request from Nixon's office to the department in July was turned down because the students to be helped were all from Kenya, and thus were not widely enough representative, among other things.

White said that about a month later the student group was revised to include representatives from Uganda and Tanganyika, as well as Kenya, and that other objections had been met.

Accordingly, White said, the department reversed its refusal and so informed Nixon's office.

Along with Fulbright, a Negro Democratic congressman from Michigan, Rep. Charles C. Diggs Jr., criticized the handling of the case.

Disputes Scott

Kennedy disputed Scott, saying the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation had, indeed, agreed to put up the money but only (1) after being informed the State Department had refused, and (2) with the stipulation the foundation's name would not be disclosed as the donor.

Diggs made public a telegram from the African American Students Foundation saying the State Department has "repeatedly turned a cold shoulder to the Airlift-Africa program."

The message said the State Department offered help only after the student group "was successful in obtaining a grant of $100,000 from a private foundation."

Tooth Paste Brand Wins Dental Group's Approval

By ARTHUR J. SNIDER
Observer-Chicago News World Service

CHICAGO — In an unprecedented action, the American Dental Association has recognized a tooth paste as having decay-preventing benefits.

SNIDER

The ADA headquarters officially accepted a fluoride dentifrice discovered by an Indiana University dental scientist and marketed commercially by Procter & Gamble Co. under the name of Crest.

The action is significant not only because the ADA has for decades refused to recognize any toothpaste, but has also implied that the public was wasting money buying it.

ADA educational materials have stressed that the tooth brush is a big preventive weapon and that baking soda or salt water are as effective as any tooth paste or powder.

As one toothpaste after another came along with lavish claims for the long - sought ingredient to curb tooth decay, the ADA promptly cautioned the public against extravagant advertising.

Toothpastes containing chlorophyll, ammonia, penicillin, detergents, germ-killers, sugar-blocking enzymes and others failed to win the much-sought ADA approval.

The official nod given to Crest is expected to have repercussions in a dentrifice market where sales exceed $300 million a year.

The endorsement is a personal victory for a 38-year-old biochemist, Joseph C. Muhler, who began working with stannous flouride as a substitute for sodium flouride when a sophomore dental student at Indiana University.

Although the conservative ADA continued to decline acceptance of his assertions, Muhler persisted in his research when a less determined investigator might have become discouraged.

Muhler has assigned his patent to the Indiana University Research Foundation.

Procter & Gamble, headed by Neil McElroy, former secretary of Defense, has paid almost $100,000 in royalties to the foundation.

Under university regulations, Muhler is not allowed to participate in royalties but a university spokesman said he had been taken care of with a substantial increase in salary that puts him in "top level ranks."

He also has been awarded a special title as research professor of basic sciences, a new laboratory and the freedom to work on his chosen projects.

Muhler believes even greater advances in stannous fluoride lie ahead.

In an interview with the Observer-Chicago News Service, he predicted that stannous fluoride applied only once to the teeth by the dentist in matter of seconds, instead of many minutes as now, will confer protection for an indefinite period.

Muhler believes topical application by the dentist will be much more important than the toothpaste and that fluoridated water supplies are still the best and cheapest method of dental decay prevention.

The ADA, in its announcement to the dental profession, also stressed that stannous fluoride tooth paste is an aid but not a cure-all and does not substitute for community fluoridation.

But the decay reduction credited to Crest is marked.

In one test group using the dentifrice "under normal conditions in their homes," there was a 23-per cent reduction, as compared with brushing done with other cleaners.

In another group, where there was supervision of brushing once daily, the reduction was 34 per cent.

Under an ideal setting, where brushing was supervised three times a day, there was a 57 per cent reduction, a figure ranking favorably with 60 per cent reduction in community water studies and 60 per cent in Muhlers' topical method.

The ADA has made it clear it was only recognizing Crest and that the acceptance does not apply to any other stannous flouride dentifrice that may be on the market or might come on later.

Dentists Make History

Brand Of Toothpaste Recognized As Decay Preventive Agent

Stannous Fluoride Used In Product

By RAY BRUNER
Blade Science Editor

The American Dental Association made history today. It officially recognized a toothpaste as an effective decay preventive agent.

This had never been done before by the ADA., which for years had rejected claims of many dentrifice manufacturers, such as "a clean tooth never decays".

The unique destinction of being recognized by the ADA goes to "Crest", manufactured by Proctor & Gamble Cincinnati.

"Crest", the ADA council on dental therapeutics reported in today's issue of the Journal of the American Dental Association, "has been shown to be an effective anti-caries (decay preventive) dentifrice that can be of significant value when used in a conscientiously applied program of oral hygiene and regular professional care; Crest dentrifice may also be of value as a supplement to public health procedures."

The council emphasized its action applied only to one ingredient in the toothpaste—stannous fluoride, a compound of tin and fluorine.

Back of the council's decision are 10 years of clinical studies. There were seven test groups, each matched by "controls."

One group used the dentifrice "under normal conditions in their home." They experienced a 23 per cent reduction in the incidence of tooth decay.

Reduction In Decay

Members of the second brushed their teeth once a day, under supervision, with a 34 per cent reduction. In a third group, with supervised brushing three times daily, there was a 57 per cent reduction in decay.

The council said these experiences emphasized the need for frequent use of the dentifrice, along with a program of "good oral hygiene", to achieve maximum benefits. "Good oral hygiene" would include proper use of the toothbrush, regular attention from a dentist and avoidance of excessive consumption of candy, sweetened soft drinks and other sources of sugar, which cause teeth to rot.

The ADA now recognizes three methods of obtaining benefits from fluorides:

► Fluoridation of community water supplies.

► Systematic application of fluoride solutions by the dentist to the surface of children's teeth.

► Stannous fluoride dentifrice.

Fluoridation, the ADA council stated, is by far the most desirable method of preventing decay, from the standpoint of cost, effectiveness and convenience.

Preliminary studies by the council suggest that a combination of all three methods may be more worthwhile than one alone.

Fluorine, in fluorine compounds, is a "trace element" necessary for adequate construction of our bodies. Teeth that lack fluorine are more susceptible to decay than teeth that contain an adequate amount.

Not all decay, however, is believed due to fluorine deficiency. Also the use of fluoridation decreases in effectiveness as children grow toward maturity.

endanger fire protection on the west side of the Iowa river.

Dental Group Okays Crest As Decay-Preventive Agent

The American Dental association today officially recognized Crest toothpaste as "an effective decay - preventive agent." Crest is the first dentifrice ever to receive such recognition, the association said in Chicago.

In a statement published in the August 1 issue of The Journal of the American Dental Association, the A.D.A. council on dental therapeutics reported:

"Crest has been shown to be an effective anticaries (decay preventive) dentifrice that can be of significant value when used in a conscientiously applied program of oral hygiene and regular professional care; Crest dentifrice may also be of value as a supplement to [illegible] health proced[illegible]

"The stannous fluoride dentifrice is an aid to combating dental decay; it is not a cure-all. Nor will it substitute for fluoridation of community water supplies. Fluoridation, which is supported by exhaustive long - term studies, remains by far the most effective means for obtaining the benefits of fluorides.

"We hope that additional studies will further clarify the role of Crest or other dentifrices in the program of preventing dental decay."

Three elements were involved in the council's decision[illegible] safety, th[illegible] other dentifrices evaluated to date by the council is supported by evidence considered adequate to demonstrate substantial effectiveness,

[illegible] results of clinical studies conducted during a ten-year period and "the manufacturer's willingness to limit advertising claims to those supported by adequate research."

Crest made news because it's effective against cavities— not because it's a cure-all

The more you read the clippings above, the more you realize that now you can do something about tooth decay with a toothpaste.

"Dentifrice found to prevent decay . . . won recognition from the American Dental Association . . . never done before." These are some of the words the nation's press used this month to tell the news of the American Dental Association's recognition of Crest® as effective against cavities.

Effective against cavities but not a cure-all

But, effective as this stannous fluoride toothpaste has proved to be, there's a lot more to good dental health than just squeezing Crest on your toothbrush.

The real key is not the use of Crest alone. But the use of Crest as part of a dental program.

The American Dental Association spelled this out in their official statement: "Crest has been shown to be an effective anti-decay dentifrice that can be of significant value when used in a conscientiously applied program of oral hygiene and regular professional care."

Rules for dental health still apply

And that, of course, means the complete dental program your dentist has always recommended for dental health:

1. You still should brush regularly. After each meal is best.
2. You still should brush right. Away from the gums. And make sure you brush every tooth—especially the back ones.
3. You still should watch those treats between meals. Between-meal treats can be overdone. Be sure to follow your dentist's advice.
4. You still should see your dentist twice a year. Give him a chance to spot trouble early and stop it before it gets headway.

Don't expect miracles—do expect fewer cavities

As the American Dental Association says, "Crest has been shown to be effective" (when you use it right and use it regularly). So team it up with the right kind of dental program and start reducing your family's cavities now.

Why is Crest different from other toothpastes?

The answer is simple. The thing that makes Crest different is Fluoristan®—an exclusive stannous fluoride formula.

Stannous fluoride, you know, is a decay-fighter dentists themselves use to prevent cavities. With Crest, you put the same fluoride on your teeth at home, too, every time you brush.

The effectiveness of this fluoride in Crest has been proved by years of tests. Tests in which Crest had to prove its superiority over regular toothpaste. And did in test after test.

Sooner Lass Named First 'Space Woman' Candidate

Stockholm, Sweden (AP) — America's first woman space pilot candidate is Jerrie Cobb, 28, of Oklahoma City, daughter of an Air Force colonel and holder of several world records for woman fliers.

This was disclosed by Dr. Randolph Lovelace, top American space medicine expert connected with the Mercury project, in a lecture here.

Bachelor-girl Cobb is the first of 12 volunteering American women to pass the same tests as the 7 men of the Mercury project.

Dr. Lovelace, who was responsible for the medical tests of the 7 male astronauts, said in the lecture at the Space and Naval Medicine Congress that the first female space flight is still far off.

Comparing Tests

"However," he said, "We are convinced that also women in due time will take part in space travels, and we have already started to compare the test results of prospective feminine space pilots with those of the men."

The tests have been in progress for a considerable time, said Dr. Lovelace, adding that the 12 female space candidates were chosen from 20 women who volunteered for the project.

"We are already in a position to say that certain qualities of the female space pilot are preferable to those of her male colleague," Dr. Lovelace added.

"She weighs much less, consumes less oxygen, needs less food and has proved herself to be better capable of standing psychological strains in certain stress situations."

Among other necessary qualifications for the woman test pilots were not more than 35 years of age, not taller than 5 feet 11 and not less than 1,000 flying-hours as pilots.

Jerrie Cobb filled the bill nicely with her 5 feet 7, 121 pounds and 7,000 flying-hours, many in jet planes.

Dr. Lovelace said that so far there is no definite space project outlined for the women. Most probably the first woman in space will be a member of a big space ship crew, he added.

Ex-Nebraskan's Son Graduates High At Yale U

The son of a well-known former Nebraskan has graduated with First Honors at Yale University, New Haven, Conn., the Nebraska Wesleyan University Alumni office reported.

He is John Ray Dunning, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. John R. Dunning of New York City and Sherman, Conn.

Young Dunning received his Bachelor's degree "Summa Cum Laude" with "exceptional distinction in physics" and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi. At the same time he was completing almost a year of graduate work.

He will continue his studies at Yale next year under a Carnegie Fellowship for graduate study.

Dr. Dunning, a native of Shelby and a Wesleyan graduate, is now Dean of the School of Engineering at Columbia University. Mrs. Dunning, the former Esther Blevins, is also a former Wesleyan student and a native of Shelby.

U.S. Has $30 Million For Ghana Dam Work

Washington (AP)—The United States has told Ghana that 30 million dollars from U.S. sources will be available toward financing the 170 million dollar Volta River industrial project in that African country.

Announcing this, the State Department said the loan will be provided when the Ghana government reaches a satisfactory arrangement with the group of private aluminum companies for the construction of an aluminum smelter.

The Volta project includes a major hydro electric installation to produce power for the smelting of aluminum and for other industrial and private uses.

MINK COATED INQUISITOR CAUSES STIR IN LINCOLN

An inquisitive visitor to downtown Lincoln will keep his mink coat.

The Humane Society picked up the visitor Thursday morning after he had become trapped in the Walker Tire Shop at 830 M.

Supt. Bernard Patton theorized that the mink probably had followed a storm sewer into the city, emerging from underground into the tire shop.

Curiosity rather than food brought him in, said Patton, adding it was an unusual incident.

Patton said he would offer the mink to the Lincoln Zoo.

If they don't want a permanent guest, the superintendent said the creature would be turned loose in the woods somewhere.

Firm That Includes Dewey Enters Probe At Chrysler

New York (AP) — A law firm which includes former "racket buster" Thomas E. Dewey as a member entered the investigation of Chrysler Corp.'s top brass.

The law firm will cooperate with Chrysler's general counsel and certified public accountants who have been looking into the doings of Chrysler officials since spring.

All officers and key personnel of the big auto maker will have their records of the past 10 years scrutinized, according to a statement by Chrysler President L. L. Colbert.

Colbert's statement followed a special meeting of Chrysler directors, one of several hasty get-togethers which have been held recently Neither Colbert nor any other director was available for questioning.

The investigation is an outgrowth of the recent resignation of William Newberg as president, along with charges of "kickbacks, payola and side profits" among executives. Newberg has agreed to return more than $450,000 to Chrysler.

DAG WARNS BIG 4—'UNITE OR LOSE CONGO'

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — Dag Hammarskjold called in the chief U.N. representatives of the Big 4 powers Thursday for a joint conference aimed at keeping the Congo from collapsing into chaos.

Reliable sources said the U.N. secretary-general bluntly told them that Big 4 unanimity was imperative in order to avoid a drastic deterioration in the already turbulent newborn African republic.

African sources said that Hammarskjold also had warned Africa's U.N. representatives that if disagreement persists with Premier Patrice Lumumba's Congo government, the United Nations would have no alternative but to pull out the more than 11,000 U.N. troops in the country.

Very Concerned

Hammarskjold and other U.N. officials made no secret of their concern over such incidents as Thursday's savage attack by Congolese army riflemen on a Canadian U.N. unit at Leopoldville airport. A U. N. spokesman commented that directives to U.N. troops make clear they have the right to shoot in self-defense if attacked.

To underscore his concern, Hammarskjold sent a letter to the ambassadors of all countries which have contributed U.N. forces to the Congo operation, detailing the incident involving the Canadians. The letter stressed the role the U.N. played in restoring order.

Summoned for the rare meeting that lasted 45 minutes were U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov, British Minister Harold Beeley and French Ambassador Armand Berard.

Another Confab

The U.N. secretary-general also held another group meeting with the ambassadors of Ecuador, Argentina, Ceylon and Tunisia — all smaller countries on the 11-nation council.

The timing of another emergency meeting of the council on the Congo hinged on the arrival here of a delegation representing Lumumba's central government.

The prospect was the council would meet on Saturday. But there was a chance that the session might even be delayed until Monday in order to permit private talks aimed at easing tensions in advance of the meeting.

All were given last minute reports received by Hammarskjold on various incidents in the Congo involving attacks on U.N. personnel. He was described as taking an extremely grave view of the situation in the light of such attacks.

Disarmament Talks Urged 'At Earliest'

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — The 82-nation U.N. Disarmament Commission adopted unanimously a 6-nation resolution calling for earliest possible continuation of negotiations on disarmament.

The commission began meeting on the call of the United States to get disarmament talks started again after the breakdown of an East-West committee of 10 nations in Geneva last June 27.

The resolution went through several revisions proposed by Canada's Foreign Secretary Howard Green. Late Thursday Chairman Luis Padilla Nervo of Mexico announced that in the absence of any objection to the resolution he declared it adopted unanimously.

Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. delegate, said the United States was more than satisfied with the result.

The resolution also called on the General Assembly meeting Sept. 20 to continue disarmament talks.

Condition Of Woman Who Shot Self 'Fair'

A 41-year-old Lincoln woman whom police said apparently attempted to take her own life was listed in fair condition Thursday at a local hospital.

Police said the woman said she became despondent and shot herself in the groin with a .32 caliber pistol. The incident occurred at her home.

Traffic Safety Class Turns Into Life-Saving Test

Lincoln Star Special

Camp Ripley, Minn.—What started as a class in traffic safety for the men of the 1057th Truck Company of the Nebraska National Guard developed into an impromptu test in life-saving.

The York guardsmen officers planted two wrecked trucks along a forest road, and had 3 men in tattered clothing smear themselves with ketchup and drape themselves in grotesque positions around the smashed vehicles.

The plans were to surprise the unwitting class which was due to pass the scene of the "tragedy" shortly after the bloody tableau was secretly set up.

Guards were posted to keep everyone else away who might drive past.

But nobody counted on the artillery spotting plane which constantly cruises over the guardsmen as they train here.

The class drove up to the scene as planned. They were properly shocked, as the man who fainted when he saw the "accident" can testify. And there it was supposed to end.

But no sooner had the class caught on that it was a fake, than an ambulance roared upon the scene.

Worried Corpsman

A very worried corpsman rushed to the "injured" men, examining them gingerly.

A copter whirled to a halt a short distance from the road. A pilot rushed to the "victim."

Only when the ketchup smeared actors sat up, grinned, and began to wipe themselves off, did everyone finally understand it was just a class.

One corpsman, however, caught on quicker. He examined the first inert form and advised, "Leave him be, its just my cousin."

Washing Machine Is Whirly's Bed

San Diego, Calif. (AP)—Whirley is a furry black and white intruder who sleeps in washing machines.

"He was asleep in my machine," said Mrs. Ora B. Greenwalt, "but he woke up and looked at me. I left."

Mrs. Kenneth Phelps, a neighbor, had a similar experience earlier. Mrs. Phelps left Whirley alone and he woke up and went away.

Then Mrs. Greenwalt called Sheriff's Lt. Joe Stables and told him her problem.

"Mrs. Greenwalt," said Stables, "we think we know this skunk.

"I'd suggest you leave him alone and he'll go away."

Mrs. Greenwalt took his advice.

Methodist Story Related By Interpretative Dance

An interpretative dance told the story of the ecumenical Methodist church at the National Conference on Methodist Youth.

Held at Nebraska Wesleyan University, the conference Thursday evening discussed the unity of the church, its meaning and the place of youth in it.

Earlier in the convention day, Bishop Kenneth W. Copeland had welcomed the 125 convention-going youths.

"I am one of the people who believe that this generation of youth is perhaps one of the finest of any in the history of the world," he said.

'It Is Difficult'

"It is difficult and challenging to be a Christian in these times.

"I pray that you will keep your religion relevant.

"God's life is for everybody, regardless of where we live and what we look like.

"There isn't an area of life from which the gospel should be withheld. The gospel should be applied in every area of life," he said.

Next year the conference will meet in conjunction with the North American Ecumenical Youth Assembly, Aug. 16-21. The assembly will be held at Ann Arbor, Mich., at the University of Michigan.

Attending the assembly will be not only Methodists but youth of many denominations. Other Protestants as well as Anglicans and Orthodox will be represented.

The conference in Nebraska concludes Saturday morning.

More Study On Request For Storage

Gov. Ralph Brooks said Thursday he is giving "further study" to a request from the Waverly Grange for aid in solving storage problems for bumper crops of milo and corn.

State Grange Master George A. Spidel met with Brooks and State Agriculture Director Pearle Finigan Thursday to submit a resolution passed Wednesday by the Waverly Grange complaining that the Omaha Bank for Cooperatives "has stopped or drastically limited loans for building additional storage."

The resolution requested that the State Department of Agriculture or some other responsible agency take immediate steps to provide storage.

There was some dispute about the Bank for Cooperatives' position with President John Eidam stating the bank is continuing to make loans where long-term storage capacity is inadequate.

Eidam said the bank has loaned money to the Farmers Cooperative Elevator at Waverly to assist in building 500,000 bushels of elevator, handling and storage space—"more than the normal storage of the community."

Ambulances Call System Up For Study

A Lancaster County Medical Society committee will meet Friday to discuss the present police system of dispatching ambulances in emergency cases.

The committee chairman, who declined to be quoted by name, said after a study is made the committee will make a recommendation on the matter to the society.

At present 5 ambulance companies located in different parts of the city rotate the emergency calls on a monthly basis.

Under this plan a suburban ambulance company may be dispatched to an accident in downtown Lincoln simply because it is the company's turn to take the emergency calls. In such a case an ambulance stationed downtown could answer the call much faster.

Being discussed is a plan whereby the city would be divided into districts and each ambulance company assigned a specific district to cover.

Tear Gas Halts Jail Break Try

Gering (AP) — Three tear gas shells fired into a ventilator broke up a jail break attempt here.

Sheriff Steve Warrick, who has an apartment adjacent to the 3rd story jail, said he heard 3 men trying to break out via the ventilator.

He put a quick end to the attempt with the tear gas shells and Thursday placed David Scaman, 23, Coal City, Ill., and Hal D. Rutter, Scottsbluff, in solitary confinement. The other prisoner is Jeff McGarvey, Brailwood, Ill.

Rutt is in jail on a breaking and entering charge and the other two on bad check charges.

Byrd Repudiates 'Right To Work' Democrat Plank

Washington (UPI) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., repudiated part of the labor plank in his party's 1960 platform and served notice on his fellow Democrats that he would fight any congressional attempt to carry it out.

Byrd, a power in the Senate's conservative wing, directed his anger specifically at the platform pledge to repeal the Taft-Hartley law's provision permitting states to enact "right to work" laws.

These laws, on the statute books of 20 states, outlaw the union shop and similar labor-management agreements which require an employe to join or remain in a union to hold his job.

Breakin Reported At Charles Stuart Home

Police Thursday reported that intruders broke into the Charles Stuart residence at 1200 Piedmont.

Officers said the rear screen door and bathroom window had been broken in but none of the rooms or drawers appeared to have been touched.

The Stuart family is on vacation in Minnesota.

NWU Receives Atomic Energy Grant

Nebraska Wesleyan University officials Thursday announced receipt of a $6,500 grant from the Atomic Energy Commission.

Dr. Walter R. French, chairman of the department of physics, said the money will be used for the purchase of nuclear counting equipment for that department.

"This grant gives us the opportunity to establish a radio isotopes laboratory which will permit us to conduct a variety of experiments using radio isotopes," Dr. French said.

Persons born in June have their choice of 8 birthstones — pearl, alexandrite or moonstone.

STATE REVOKES RETAIL PACKAGE LIQUOR LICENSE

The State Liquor Commission Thursday revoked the retail package liquor license of Harold and Rosalia Klein of Pleasanton for violation of the Nebraska Liquor Control Act.

The commission said the application filed with the state stated that no persons other than those named on the application would have any interest directly or indirectly in the business.

The commission said Klein did have an interest in the business which was in violation of the act.

Harold and Rosalia Klein had filed applications for the license on March 23, 1958, March 12, 1958 and April 2, 1957.

Other commission action:

—Denied application for a retail Class C liquor license from Keener I. Price of Plattsmouth.

—Approved retail beer license of Paradise Room, Inc., Omaha.

—Suspended beer license of John A. Van Horn Sr. and John A. Van Horn Jr. of Valentine for 3 days from Aug. 30-Sept. 3.

—Postponed hearing on Hilbert J. Meier of Springfield on suspension or revocation of retail Class C liquor license from Aug. 25 to Aug. 30.

Pure sugar cane... so sweet and clean little Hawaiians eat it raw

(Grown-ups make it into C and H)

Next to our children, sugar cane is about the sweetest thing we grow in Hawaii.

And as you see above, we don't try very hard to keep the kids from the cane. Because Hawaiian cane grows so pure, sweet and clean, little Hawaiians eat it raw. While we grown-ups busily make it into sugar for you. C and H Sugar. World's finest, we believe.

For nature has smiled on these islands. The rains fall gently. The sun shines passionately. And in this earth even orchids grow wild. This must be where sugar was meant to grow.

Will you keep using C and H Sugar? We're outrageously proud of it.

Notorious Spy Goes To Cuba As Russian Envoy

. . . Appointment Bodes No Good For U.S.

By Ben F. Meyer

Washington (AP) — The man known by the code name "Leon" in the infamous espionage case of the Soviet Embassy in Canada in 1945 has turned up in Havana as Moscow's ambassador, and experts here say this bodes no good for the United States and other hemisphere nations.

A Royal Canadian commission listed Sergei Kudrayavtzev, new ambassador to the Fidel Castro government, as one of 17 members of the former Ottawa Embassy staff "who engaged in espionage activities."

U.S. officials made no secret of their interest in his appointment to Havana, where the Castro government has announced increasingly close ties with both Moscow and Peiping, and has given free reign to Cuban and other Communists.

Identity of Kudrayavtzev and the other Soviet officials came after the defection of Igos Gouzenko, code clerk of the Ottawa Embassy with a mass of documents conerning Soviet spy rings in Canada.

Kudrayavtzev left Ottawa, where he was first secretary of the Russian Embassy, before Gouzenko disclosed the existence of the spy ring there.

The appearance of such a man in Havana certainly could fit into the pattern of events already shaping up under the Castro regime, one official here said.

Kudrayavtzev, 52, described as a smooth, personable, intelligent man who—after the Ottawa incident involving both Canadian and Soviet citizens—served in Bonn, Berlin, Vienna, Moscow and Paris.

He speaks English, German, Spanish and Italian, in addition to Russian and dialects. Previously he had served in Ankara and Berlin, sometimes as a correspondent for Tass, the Soviet news agency; at other times with diplomatic rank.

Cuba is considered by experts on Communist activities here as a new focal point for Red espionage and propaganda work in this hemisphere. Mexico City and Montevideo, Uruguay, formerly were considered chief points for such activities but diplomatic circles say their importance as centers of Communist activities has diminished because of opposition in both nations to the Castro regime.

Parker Named New Defense Target-Picker

Washington (AP) — The Defense Department selected a much decorated fighting sailor to be deputy director of the new agency created to select targets and designate the weapons to be used against them in the event of a nuclear war.

He is Rear Adm. Edward N. Parker, chief of the Defense Atomic Support Agency. This is a Pentagon group that prepares for nuclear tests, studies atomic effects, and assists the military services in the use and improvement of nuclear weapon.

Director of the strategic target office is Air Force Gen. Thomas S. Power, who will continue as Strategic Air Force commander.

The Navy lost no time in proposing Parker's name for the No. 2 position in the new agency. Parker was on his way to Omaha to take up his new job within 24 hours after Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates announced the decision designed to increase the readiness of all U.S. ratalia-tory forces to act in event of a nuclear war. The decision also served to put down a growing argument between the Air Force and the Navy over control of Polaris missile launching submarines.

The new agency will list all strategic targets behind the Iron Curtain and recommend which weapons, regardless of service, will be sent against them.

George Condon, Contractor, Dies

Omaha (AP) — George W. Condon, 81, an Omaha construction contractor 42 years, died in a hospital.

An Omaha resident since he was 7, Mr. Condon formed a company that bore his name in 1901 and later became a partner in the Condon-Cunningham Co.

His projects included the Imperial Dam in Arizona, Boca Dam in California, Taylor Park Dam in Colorado and Sutherland Dam in Nebraska.

He retired in 1943 and since had maintained several ranches in Nebraska and Colorado with his son, William E. Condon.

Mr. Condon was a Mason and member of the Shrine.

Other survivors include his widow; two daughters, Mrs. Edward W. Lyman and Mrs. Richard T. Klopp, both of Omaha; a son, Harold G. of Reno, Nev., and 10 grandchildren.

Verdict Of $175,681 Said 'Grossly Excessive'

. . . Judge Sets Aside Case, Plans New Trial

Denver (AP) — A $175,681 damage verdict for the accidental death of a Nebraska man is "grossly excessive" and will be set aside, says Denver District Judge Robert H. McWilliams.

He announced, after a 4-hour hearing that he will order a new trial of an action brought by Mrs. Virginia R. Piper, 30, of Gordon, Neb.

Killed By Pole

Mrs. Piper's husband, Glenn, was killed in 1956 when a power pole he was climbing snapped off at the ground and toppled onto him. Mrs. Piper sued Broderick Wood Products Co. and Commercial Testing Laboratory, claiming the company improperly treated the pole and the testing firm certified it wrongly as being safe.

The case was tried under Nebraska law in Denver by agreement of principals and a 6-member jury returned the damage verdict—highest ever awarded in Colorado. If the case had been tried under Colorado law, there would have been a $25,000 ceiling on the damages.

Sale Talked For Yax Car Agency Here

The Lincoln agency was purchased by Yax from Fred M. Sidles Jr. in December, 1954.

Purchase price of the General Motors franchise has not yet been announced.

Vanice, who is wholesale manager for the Greenlease Cadillac agency in Kansas City, Mo., was in Lincoln Thursday conferring with Yax on the negotiations.

Priest Of Nazi Camps Dies In Mt. Accident

Dachau, Germany (AP) — Father Leonard Roth, Roman Catholic priest who comforted many thousands tortured in the Nazi Dachau concentration camp, died in a mountain accident in Vorarlberg, Austria, friends said. He was 52.

Details of the death were not immediately known here.

Father Roth was imprisoned by the Nazis in 1941. As camp priest he not only gave spiritual comfort to Catholics but to many other prisoners.

Vote On Boundary Between Nebraska-Iowa Due Aug. 27

Omaha (AP) — Four Nebraskans and four Iowans attended a closed meeting in Omaha of the Nebraska-Iowa Boundary Study Committee.

The committee delayed making its recommendation to legislatures of the two states on whether the Village of Carter Lake should become part of Nebraska or remain in Iowa.

Iowa members of the commission are to meet Aug. 27 at Okoboji to vote on the matter.

Roy Towl of Omaha, Nebraska chairman, said after the meeting that "the Nebraska delegation is still solidly in favor of making Carter Lake a part of Nebraska and we hope the joint group can make that recommendation."

Iowans Divided

He said the Iowa members are divided on the issue.

Towl said both Nebraska Gov. Ralph Brooks and Iowa Gov. Herschel Loveless favor making Carter Lake a part of Nebraska.

The Nebraskans have taken the position that the proper place for the Nebraska-Iowa boundary is the center of the stabilized Missouri River. This would give Iowa certain land in the De Soto Bend and Decatur, Neb., areas and near Hamburg, Ia., where the river has shifted in recent times. Other areas including Carter Lake would go to Nebraska.

Once in a while one or two whopping splashes of color contribute more to a room than dribbles of color here and there.

I was reminded of this one night in Rome when I was invited to a party at a beautiful old palazzo, just off an ancient cobblestone square. The walls of the houses looked black and grim in the moonlight as I walked up one flight of stairs in the open courtyard to a door opened by a footman. Through one beautiful drawing room into another we walked until we came to the ballroom which was so enchanting I stopped at the door to impress the picture on my memory.

There was an over-all whiteness to the room. The walls were painted in a pale pastel mural of flowers, fading into a view of water and a valley. There were superb white brocade curtains, lined with pink satin, THEN in each corner of the room were carved wooden stands holding great pots of bright coral-red azelias. The effect was startlingly exquisite.

I almost missed a step of the first dance, translating this effect into a room of the future.

Mrs. P. J. H. asks:

"Would you please help me decorate my entrance hall to make it attractive. It is in a new split level house and is 3 feet wide and 9.4 feet long. The walls are Rusty Rose with tan spatter vinyl tile. I haven't been able to think of anything to make it real attractive. At the present I don't even have a picture on the wall and there is no window in there. Would appreciate it if you would help me to make this a nice entrance and a welcome into our home. Please!"

Dear Mrs. P. J. H.:

I'm glad to see you realize how important that front hallway introduction to your home is. First, get a bright and cheery hall rug, one that says "Come on in. This is an alive and happy house!" How about a black rug with a brilliant pattern? On that north wall, hang a 2½ foot mirror. (This will give the effect of a window.) Hang a console shelf under it and add a bowl of bright flowers. Along the east wall, have a good size reproduction of a pretty scene. In the northwest corner, set a slender tall-back chair. Put a group of prints over it. If your sketch was fairly accurate, this should make you happy!

Mrs. L. T. B. asks:

"You never seem to use much green. Don't you like it?"

Dear Mrs. L. T. B.:

You must have skipped the "green" columns. I like green very much and have suggested it several times where it seemed appropriate. I especially like the peacock combination of blue and green used together.

Mrs. C. P. M. asks:

"Could I have a "Country Kitchen" in the City?"

Dear Mrs. C. P. M.:

Why not? You don't have to be in the country to eat ham and eggs. Clip an idea you like and tailor it to fit your space and taste.

DEAR ABBY
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: There is in my neighborhood a 15-year-old boy who is as nice a young man as you would care to meet. He comes to "talk things over" with me because his father died when he was small. (I am a 62-year-old man.)

Abby, this boy's mother is a fine, intelligent woman (an executive secretary) but she is ruining her son's life. She tells him he is "the man of the house". She still picks out all his clothes. She cuts him off from all young people — especially girls. He once asked her why she didn't try to find a nice man and remarry and she told him she was devoting her life to HIM and she didn't need a husband.

This boy is bright, mannerly and handsome. He yearns to be a normal 15-year-old boy but is cast in the role of his mother's private property. Would you, if you were I, talk to his mother about it?

JUST A NEIGHBOR

DEAR NEIGHBOR: I would. If she is "fine and intelligent," she'll hear you out. Otherwise, she'll throw you out. You've nothing to lose and the boy has so much to gain. Good luck!

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: What would you think if every time you went to visit a certain friend, she put up her ironing board when you got there and said, "I'll iron while we visit." Don't you think it is rude to treat a friend like that?

TIRED OF IT

DEAR TIRED: Your friend isn't ironing for the fun of it. Obviously her ironing is a pressing matter. A "close" friend wouldn't complain. She'd help.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: May we say a word in defense of the girls who get a bad reputation because the boys they date stay out almost all night? The parents of these boys should check and find out if their sons are staying out with the girls they date. It is a well-known fact that boys will take their dates home at a reasonable hour and meet somewhere afterwards to talk among themselves.

Tarbill, new president of the club, Mrs. Corbin, Mrs. Elkins Read, Mrs. William Working and Mrs. William C. Garland.

TALK

—The grapevine had news for the picking this morning, and our harvest included a variety of things about people, parties and parents.

We'll begin with the party calendar which contains two coffees—One of them is the 10 o'clock affair this morning when Mrs. Walton Ferris entertains 12 guests at her home in courtesy to her niece, Mrs. Merle Reynoldson of Junction City, Kan.

Mrs. Reynoldson is in town for a Wednesday-to-Saturday stay as the guest of her mother, Mrs. Guy Harris, and Mr. Harris.

* * *

—And on Saturday morning Mrs. Fred Ferciot and Mrs. Everett Angle will pay prenuptial courtesy to Miss Ann Rogers whose marriage to Dr. Robert White will take place on Sept. 9. The coffee guests have been invited for 10 o'clock, and the soon-to-be bride will be presented with a pottery shower.

* * *

—Our "people" department has to do with potential guests — —

Plane-ing in on Sunday from Mexico City will be Senor and Senora Enrique Monroy and their two sons, Raoul and Enrique, Jr., who will spend two weeks as the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Westervelt.

During their stay in Lincoln Senor and Senora Monroy will be honored at numerous informal courtesies.

* * *

—We've talked about people, the parties—and now it is time for the chapter on parents who, by the way, are to be included in the guest book.

On Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Lee Rankin, who have been vacationing at their ranch near Ft. Pierre, S.D., will be arriving for a brief stay as the guests of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Rankin. Accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Rankin, will be their daughter, Sara, and Steve Caruthers. Also arriving with the Rankins is an important member of their household —their dog, Lady.

BRIDGE
By B. Jay Becker

You are the South, both sides vulnerable. The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1♥	Pass	1♠	Pass
2♣	Pass	?

What would you now bid with each of the following five hands?

1. ♠KQ94 ♥653 ♦A92 ♣976
2. ♠AQ852 ♥J3 ♦943 ♣KJ6
3. ♠KJ942 ♥K85 ♦A974 ♣6
4. ♠AQ732 ♥J6 ♦KQ104 ♣J5
5. ♠KQ864 ♥10 ♦J2 ♣AQ853

1. Two hearts. All that can be done at the moment is to give partner a preference for the suit he first named. North's strength is unknown at this point — he may have a minimum opening bid or he may have extra values not yet revealed.

The two heart bid shows willingness to play at a part score, and hence indicates that our first response was of the minimum class. If partner goes on in an effort to get to game, we can afford to bid again because our values are better than our first two bids indicated.

2. Three clubs. This is a forward-going bid that invites partner to continue if he has more than a minimum opening. We are close to the game zone, with 11 high-card points facing an opening bid, but are not strong enough to force to game. Partner may, of course, pass, since the three club bid is only invitational.

3. Three hearts. It would be wrong to give only a preference bid of two hearts, which could be based on a much weaker hand. The 11 high-card points are augmented by a heart fit, the value of the singleton club, and the all-around utility of the hand. We should show that for practical purposes we have the equivalent of an opening bid facing an opening bid — which means game.

4. Three notrump. There is no doubt that a game must be undertaken, and the indications are that the best spot is in notrump. To rebid only two notrump would run the risk of a pass by partner, since a two notrump bid in this sequence is only invitational and not forcing.

There is not much point to bidding two diamonds. While it is true that this would constitute a forcing bid, it would nevertheless suggest a distributional setup that does not exist. The way to show a pronounced desire to play notrump is to bid notrump.

5. Four clubs. Game seems very likely, and a slam is not too remote. The distributional factors more than justify the jump raise (forcing) with only 12 high-card points. While it is true that three notrump might turn out to be the best contract, there is no way of reaching a notrump game without sacrificing the advantages of the jump raise.

Suit May Be Brought Against St. Joseph Under U.S. Water Pollution Control Act

Washington (UPI) — The first suit to be instituted under the enforcement provisions of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act may be brought against the city of St. Joseph, Mo.

Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of health, education and welfare has asked the department of justice to bring suit on behalf of the United States to secure abatement of pollution of the Missouri River by St. Joseph.

Flemming's Request

On Aug. 12, 1959, Flemming ordered the city and 18 industrial establishments outside the city to build and put into operation by June 1, 1963, "proper, adequate and effective municipal and industrial sewage and waste collection, treatment and disposal facilities."

This was recommended by a hearing board appointed by Flemming after the city and industries failed to comply voluntarily with recommendations of the surgeon general of the public health service.

The Kansas State board of health has requested that the matter be referred to the department of justice and the Missouri Water Pollution Control Board has consented to the action.

The hearing board found that pollution of the Missouri River by St. Joseph was endangering the health and welfare of persons in the state of Kansas.

The board recommended a timetable calling for a bond issue by June 1, 1960 to finance construction of the treatment plant.

Bond Election

An election was held May 21 on the bond issue. It was defeated and the preparation of plans and specifications were dropped.

Flemming said he found compliance with the timetable recommended by the hearing board was necessary to secure abatement of pollution by June 1, 1963.

Nebraska Conservatives To Support Sen. Curtis

The Nebraska Constitutional Conservatives, a newly-formed conservative political group billed as bi-partisan, will support Republican Sen. Carl T. Curtis in his bid for re-election, it was disclosed Thursday.

Loran Schmit of David City, vice chairman of the organization, said the group has not yet decided on all the candidates it will support but there was no disagreement on support for Curtis.

The conservatives named Earl Luff of Lincoln as permanent chairman; Richard Goodding of Ithaca, formerly associated with the Nebraska Farm Bureau, as secretary; elected 11 members to an executive committee and started plans for a county-by-county drive to elect conservative Nebraska congressional candidates in November.

Schmit, former Nebraska Young Republican chairman, said NCC is an independent group not tied to "Americans for constitutional action," a national conservative organization, although it has the same principles as the ACA and will cooperate with the ACA.

Committee members include E. J. Faulkner and Mrs. W. H. Folger of Lincoln; Loyal Shannon of Nebraska City; Hal Bridenbaugh of Dakota City; William Spear of Fremont; Bob Thomas of Norfolk; Mrs. Rosemary McCain of Gering; Carl Spelts of Kearney; Mrs. James Vieregg of Grand Island; Luff and Schmit.

Stan Delaplane's POSTCARD

Six or seven hundred years ago, the sturdy Alpine people of these Swiss-Italian lakes rose against the Duke of Milan.

They thereupon became the Swiss Canton of Tecino — an Italian - accented, sunny Catholic land. Their Italian language is printed on the Swiss money—"Venti Franchi" French, "Vingt Franc" and the Northern German, "Zwanzig Franken."

Dumpling-eating northerners come down here for the summer. They wonder what kind of Swiss these are who eat spaghetti.

☆ ☆ ☆

On Lake Lugano lies a little ravioli - shaped patch of green shoreline that is still Italy. (It belonged to the Bishop of Milan. The warriors of independence were willing to fight the Duke. But they let the Church alone.)

Campione is surrounded by Switzerland—about ten blocks long and five blocks wide.

The ink-slinging Lutheran Swiss of the North voted out gambling.

And Italy promptly turned Campione into a casino.

The other night we drove over to Campione—it is 15 minutes from Lugano—to see what was what with the red-and-black, the odd-and-even.

☆ ☆ ☆

Though Campione flies the Italian flag, the gambling is done in Swiss francs.

The municipal casino is a rather elegant building of marbled halls and flowered terraces. Like most European gambling establishments, you must pay to get in.

Unfortunately, we had forgotten our passports. The casino management said they were sorry, but—

"It is the rule of the house to have a passport."

However, we peeked through the door. It was guarded by a shady-looking character in a dinner jacket—why is it all gambling doormen look like something from a George Raft movie?

We peeked in. The action looked pretty boring after Reno and Las Vegas. The atmosphere in a European gambling place is a good deal like a public library. No voices are raised in, "Come on, Little Joe!"

The croupier says, in a schoolmaster voice: "Place your wagers, ladies and gentlemen."

They spin the wheel. If you win, you are supposed to take your chips without emotion. If you lose, you may go out in the garden and shoot yourself. A small caliber gun, please. Loud bangs disturb the other guests.

☆ ☆ ☆

There is a nightclub downstairs. It was packed with Italians. The headwaiter gave us a seat in the peanut gallery. But, like all headwaiters, he was able to read the "Venti Franchi," Vingt Francs," "Zwanzig Franken" on the 20-franc bill.

We soon were promoted to ringside.

"Most of our business comes from Milan," he said. "The Italians come here to gamble. Confidentially, they are high players, but very poor tippers. The tips they give would not support a bus boy."

We gave him another 10 francs — no use having the headwaiter bum-rap you after you depart.

"God bless America," said the headwaiter. He offered to move our table up on stage. Among the floor show.

"How about the Swiss? Do they gamble much?"

"The Italian-Swiss — the pasta-eating Swiss. They are gay and charming with their money. But the German-Swiss, the dumpling-eaters, ach, Gott! How they pinch the franchi!"

The headwaiter was a Greek. "If you want a money-spender, find a Greek. Look at Onassis. A Greek or an American. But if you can get a rich Greek-American! That is the best of all."

BENSON FORESEES SUPPORT FOR HIS POLICIES

Washington (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson predicted Thursday his controversial farm policies will gain in popular support between now and the November presidential election despite Richard M. Nixon's chilly attitude.

Benson also pledged his whole-hearted support to the vice president's White House bid although he once said New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller would make a stronger candidate. Asked if he would campaign for Nixon, however, Benson said he had "no definite plans."

The secretary, just back from overseas, declined to comment on the general political situation. He said he did not have a chance to keep abreast of developments during his 14,000-mile, 7-nation trip which was designed to expand U.S. agricultural markets abroad.

But he said he would expect "every loyal Republican" to support the GOP national ticket.

He was asked if he thought Congress should do something about the farm problem in its current session. He replied that he "can't believe they'll go home without giving attention to wheat."

Pair Clears Up Series Of Omaha Thefts, Burglaries

Omaha (AP) — Two prisoners in Douglas County jail have cleared up a series of thefts and burglaries including parking meter break-ins that netted $40 a day, officers said Thursday.

Eugene A. Phillips, 26, is in jail waiting to start a 7-year manslaughter term. Ronald L. Mason, 19, is held after sheriff's deputies said he admitted a breakin at the Omaha Home for Boys.

Sgts. Delbert Bigley and Maurice Barrett said Phillips and Mason were questioned about the parking meter theft after the break-ins halted when they were jailed.

The sergeants quoted the pair as saying they broke into more than 58 parking meters between June 29 and July 21, averaging $40 a day. It cost the city an average of $15 each to repair the meters.

Phillips was sentenced for 7 years for manslaughter after Lawrence Wilson, 23, an ex-paratrooper, was stabbed with a pocket knife.

WHY your grocer points with pride... to the ROBERTS name on his milk carton

For obvious reasons, milk may not be fully protected from chemical impurities either through heat or refrigeration. Only laboratory checking and control can assure this safeguard in conformity with new federal law.

Your processor is responsible for this protection. The Roberts name on the carton represents Roberts' acceptance of this responsibility.

That is why your conscientious grocer points with pride to the Roberts name, whether on a premium or economy carton of milk. For he, too, is interested in your well-being.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key number letter left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. Only One Phil Gets On Base

. . . BRAVE ACE HITS 1 BATTER

Milwaukee (AP) — Lew Burdette, right-handed veteran of the Milwaukee Braves, fired the first no-hitter of his career Thursday night, allowing just one runner to reach base for a 1-0 victory over the last place Philadelphia Phillies.

The 33-year-old Burdette, who has two one-hitters to his credit since coming to the Braves in 1951, became the second National League pitcher to hurl 9 hitless innings this season.

It was his 14th victory against 7 defeats.

Burdette also scored the Braves' run in the 8th inning, after doubling off ex-Milwaukee right-hander Gene Conley. Billy Bruton's double brought him home.

Burdette lost his bid for a perfect game in the 5th inning when, with one out, he hit Tony Gonzalez on the shoulder with a 1-1 pitch.

The next Phil batter, Lee Walls, hit a high chopper to 3rd baseman Ed Mathews, who threw him out.

Gonzalez, attempting to go to 3rd on the play, was cut down on the first baseman's throw to shortstop Johnny Logan, who made the tag at 3rd for a doubleplay.

That close pitch to Gonzalez was the only flaw in Burdette's control.

He had the Phils chopping the ball into the ground throughout, with the Braves gathering 19 assists. The Milwaukee outfield had only 4 chances, all easy.

Burdette struck out 3 while extending the Phils' hitless slump through 12 2-3 innings.

The first ball hit out of the infield by the Phils was a center field fly by Pancho Herrera leading off the 5th inning.

Burdette's two one-hitters include a 1-0 defeat by the Phils on June 16, 1957. His other one-hitter was a 5-1 victory over the then Brooklyn Dodgers on May 12, 1954.

Big 8's Grid Coaches Tell Woes Today

By Don Bryant
Sports Editor, The Star

Kansas City, Mo. — Big 8 football coaches today break out the soft soap and crying towels for the benefit of the conference press, radio, TV and alumni.

At 8:30 a.m., this morning Nebraska athletic director Bill Orwig will gavel the press conference to order. He's subbing for conference director Reaves Peters, now in Rome for the Olympics.

Big 8 coaches will take turns playing down their bright spots and booming their club's shortcomings.

But through it all will emerge solid indications that (1) Oklahoma is washed up because of Nebraska's win last fall; (2) several teams are much-improved, including Nebraska; and (3) the conference expects to see one of the tightest races in years, with only Kansas State out of the running.

At noon, the coches will repeat their stories—along with some high tales—for several hundred alumni, representing all 8 schools, at a Hotel Muehlebach luncheon.

Bill Jennings will present NU's prospectus to both groups.

Stu's Shot Lifts Bucs Over Reds

Cincinnati (AP) — Dick Stuart's 8th inning pinch hit home run with two on Thursday night broke up a brilliant pitching duel between Vernon Law and Cal McLish and gave the league-leading Pittsburgh Pirates a 3-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

McLish had allowed only two hits until the 8th inning collapse.

Stuart was batting for Law when he unloaded his blast over the left field wall.

Elroy Face finished up for the Pirates and gave up the final Red run in the 9th. Law, however, received credit for his 18th victory as against 5 defeats.

Hardy Adventurers

If you are driving on Highway 6 west of Lincoln this week, perhaps you will spot two young fellows peddling loaded bicycles.

Don Mann and Lyle Luff, two University of Nebraska students from Lincoln, are the cyclists and they rate a salute. The peddling Lincolnites are riding far—and it's all uphill.

Mann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mann, and Luff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Luff, are bicyling to Estes Park for a short vacation before resuming their NU studies.

"It really started as a joke," Mann said prior to departure. "We thought about it and then people began to laugh at us. So we decided to show 'em."

While the scoffers didn't take them serious, Mann and Luff weren't kidding a bit.

To get the project rolling, they imported a pair of English touring bikes and then went into training.

Trained Hard

Don's dad, former Sprague-Martell coach who is now superintendent of schools at Raymond, served as "conditioning adviser."

"We've taken 3 rides to Palmyra and back—about 40 miles," Don said. "The last one took us only 2:40."

The cycling duo left Tuesday morning and planned to make 100 miles a day.

"We're going to camp out at night, unless we can stay at a friend's house sometime," Don grinned. "We hope to do that a couple of nights."

After getting to Estes—they expect to arrive there Monday—they'll bike up Trail Ridge road, a steep grade in a car.

Both riders — who plan to bike back, also, reaching Lincoln on Sept. 5—will be easily identified by drivers on Highway 30. They're wearing T-shirts with "Lincoln, Nebraska" emblazoned on the front and scarlet and cream windbreakers.

Big Load

Mann unfurled his pack—each rider will carry a 20-pound load—and demonstrated its efficiency.

"We're each carrying half a pup tent, and I'm taking 3 T-shirts, 3 pairs of shorts, underwear and socks," Don said. "And it's all wrapped in a water tight plastic."

At this point, Mrs. Mann interjected: "And don't forget, you are to stop at some laundromats on the way!"

It's going to be a long haul for the Lincoln cyclists, but they're planning on lots of fun—and proving their points.

PS: Mrs. Mann, in addition to her sound advice, also chipped in to make the trip "a little easier." Thanks to her, the bike seats have been built up with foam rubber. "The regular seat is a little hard," Don laughed. "This should make it pretty nice."

Burdette Thanks Mates After Hurling No-Hitter

'. . . WASN'T WORRIED, SEEMED IMPOSSIBLE'

Milwaukee (AP) — Lew Burdette, who had just pitched the first no-hit game of his major league career, stood up in the middle of the Milwaukee's Braves clubhouse Thursday night and in a rare serious moment said: "I never thought I'd do that. Thanks, you guys."

There was a moment of respectful silence. Then catcher Del Crandall returned things to normal.

"See what happens, you pitchers," he said, "When you throw that ball where I want it?"

Burdette endorsed Crandall's statement.

"You are so right, Delmar," he said.

'Hitting Best'

Warren Spahn, the Braves' other 14-game winner and long-time roommate of Burdette's, congratulated Lew, then said "it wasn't your pitching that was so good—if it weren't for your hitting, you'd be pitching yet."

Burdette led off the 8th inning against loser Gene Conley with a double and broke up the shutout duel a moment later Billy Bruton punched a double down the right field foul line, driving in the run.

Burdette, 33, said he hadn't worried about the no-hittter.

Burdette, who had the Phils driving the ball into the ground—only 4 balls reached the outfield—said he threw lots of sliders, screwballs and curves.

"I gave B. G. Smith (the last Phils' batter in the 9th, a good slider to hit, I had a part of plate, and he had to swing."

Smith swung and lifted a lazy fly to Hank Aaron in right field, ending the ball game.

COMMISSION MEET TODAY

The Nebraska Game Commission meets at 9 a.m. this morning at the Capitol to set the 1960 state hunting seasons for upland game.

The commission is also expected to make recommendations for the 1960 waterfowl hunting dates.

Huskers Striving For Ball Control

. . . JENNINGS REPORTS TO COACHES

Nebraska football coach Bill Jennings told the first session of the Nebraska coaching school Thursday that the Cornhuskers this year would try to return to a "ball control" offense.

He also said the Huskers were moving away from the pure split-T to a wing-T offense.

Reason for this shift, he said, would be to help "freeze" the defense and shut off some of the pursuit which the split-T has been generating.

He said the switch to ball control came because he felt his team "may be able to move the ball better this fall."

"A team only has the ball 13 or 14 times during a game," Jennings said. "Recently we have been playing for field position depending largely on our kicking game."

Ara Parseghian, football coach at Northwestern University and Wilbur (Sparky) Stalcup, University of Missouri basketball coach, will highlight the lectures today.

Don McKillip of McCook opened the session by demonstrating 8-man basic offenses. He said that the 8-man game has grown from 15 teams in 1954 to 143 teams in recent seasons.

First day's registration showed a total of 173 coaches with more expected today and Saturday.

Crazy Chas. Selections:

Here we are sailing briskly through the Fairgrounds racing season and the bangtails are still beating Ike Newton's law of falling apples.

When by all rights the most favored nags should be grabbing only about 1/3 of the apples they're still gobbling down nearly 50%.

This provides a merry guessing game called, "When Are The Skinny Horses Going To Get Fat Along With The Fast Thinning Bettors."

Gals' Quarters Taboo-- Doc, Cleaner Excepted

Rome (AP)—Out of Rome's 1,000,000 able-bodied men, only two at anytime can enter the guarded gates of the women's section of the Olympic Village.

They are:

One doctor.

One street cleaner.

"And up to now," explained Hanan Chiha, Lebanese press officer for the village, "only the street cleaner has gone in."

Chiha said there had been no serious illnesses among the 280 girls and women currently sleeping behind the 8 foot high steel fence.

None Assigned

He explained that no single doctor had been given the assignment of male physician to the ladies' compound.

"We have a list of about 25 "he added," and if an emergency arises and one has to go through the gates, he will be picked from the top of the list."

When and if a second emergency arises, then Doc No. 2 will get the nod.

800 Women

When the games start, on Aug. 25, the female population should reach 800.

The street cleaners—furnished by Rome's city fathers—are on a rotation system, too.

The charmed pavement-massager on Thursday's shift was Ugo Longbardi, a married man with 5 children.

He entered the women's compound shortly before breakfast, gave the few streets a once-over-lightly, and went away.

As he left, he told an Olympic official that this morning's work was little different than any other.

No Eyeballing

He said he didn't see any of the lady Olympic athletes and he didn't think any of them saw him.

He said he was unaware and unmoved that millions of men all over the world might envy him his job.

Philosophized Longbardi: "Just ask any of them if they ever cleaned streets."

Orioles Outlast Senators

Baltimore (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles scored 8 runs in the 3rd inning Thursday night and hung on for a 10-8 victory over the Washington Senators, snapping a 4-game losing streak.

The Senators, who had whipped the third-place Orioles 9 times in 15 games, rallied for 4 runs in the 9th inning. Three of the runs were scored on Harmon Killebrew's 19th homer of the season.

Kuenn Lashes 4 Hits, Tribe Overhauls Chisox

Cleveland (AP) — Harvey Kuenn lashed out 4 straight hits Thursday night, sparking Cleveland to an 8-6 victory over the Chicago White Sox. The Indians rallied to overcome a 5-run deficit with 5 runs in the 6th inning and two in the 7th.

The defeat dropped the White Sox 2½ games behind league-leading New York. Dick Stigman turned in a brilliant relief job, holding Chicago hitless over the final 4 frames. He walked one and picked up his 5th victory in 13 decisions.

Solo home runs were hit by Jim Landis for Chicago and Ken Aspromonte for Cleveland. Aspromonte's homer touched off the Indians' 5-run rally. Kuenn's 4th hit drove in the lead run in the 7th.

Both teams matched runs in the first inning. The White Sox scored when Luis Aparicio singled, stole second and rode home on Roy Sievers' single.

The Indians counted their run on a double by Johnny Temple and a single by Kuenn.

The White Sox added another run in the 3rd on Aparicio's double and Minnie Minoso's single. Landis drilled a home run leading off in the 4th.

Three runs—two of them unearned—gave the Sox a 6-1 bulge in the 5th frame.

That was all the scoring for Chicago, though. Aspromonte opened the 6th with his homer. Temple followed with a single and Kuenn doubled him to 3rd.

Then Vic Power and Marty Keough singled and Tito Francona also followed with a single.

The Indians touched up relief ace Gerry Staley (11-7) for a pair of runs in the 7th inning and handed him the loss for the second straight night.

-NEEDS CUSTOMIZED OUTFIT-

Hefty Earlene Lets Italian Tailors Try

Rome (AP) — Earlene Brown, America's mammoth shotput and discus thrower, pitched her 225 pounds into the hands of Italian tailors Thursday.

With special know-how and enough fabric to cover a sofa, the Italians hoped to do what the Americans couldn't: Custommake a navy blue Olympic outfit for Earlene. She needs it for the opening day parade on August. 25.

At the Olympic Village, a master tailor and two assistants measured Earlene and jotted down 42-40-48 without flicking an eyelid.

Earlene had only one comment:

"Don't make the skirt too big, because my hips run narrow."

The Los Angeles housewife, who is the Pan-American shot put queen, said she loses weight when she's happy.

"When I'm worried I go right to the icebox," she added.

Now Earlene said, she is happy.

Besides being the biggest woman on the American team, Earlene has the daintiest ambition. She plans to go back to Los Angeles and open her own beauty salon.

After 8 months at a beauticians' school, she feels she can give the light touch to the tinest pin curls, delicate manicures, facials, permanents and hair-dyeing.

Earlene's own hair is a henna shock of wire curls.

Earlene's other passion is calypso dancing. "I guess I'm just light on my feet," she explains.

She was the belle of the Olympic Village at Melbourne 4 years ago because of her dancing.

Other than dancing, learning to be a beauty operator, Olympic training, and running recreational sports for a high school, the 25-year-old Californian spends her tiime rearing a 5-year-old boy.

On child discipline she said with a wink: "I whale the daylights out of him every 4 hours."

YANKS THUMP BOSOX

Boston (AP)—New York defeated Boston 11-7 Thursday with an 8th inning single by Bill Skowron and Ralph Terry's sparkling relief pitching swinging the balance for the comeback-conscious Yankees.

A two run homer by Cletus Boyer and another run-producing Skowron single in the 9th frosted the decision for the American League leaders in the 3 hour, 27 minute struggle before 29,471 at Fenway Park.

Terry, 5th New York pitcher posting his 6th triumph, allowed only one ball beyond the infield while facing the minimum 9 batters over the final 3 innings.

After striking out Frank Malzone to open the Red Sox 7th, Terry got 6 men on grounders, retired Ted Williams on a liner to short and Don Buddin on a fly to deep right.

The Yankees rallied in the 8th after trailing 7-5. Tony Kubek singled and scored on a Yogi Berra double.

Mickey Mantle tied the score on a shot which caromed off second baseman Pumpsie Green's shins. Mantle stole second and rode home with the winning run on Skowron's single to left.

Moon's Homer In 13th Boosts L.A. Over Cubs

Chicago, (AP) — Wally Moon's homer in the 13th inning, his only hit in the game, Thursday powered the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

It was a game of homers all around. Rookie Ron Santo's second blast of the day tied tthe score for tthe cubs in the bottom of tthe 9th.

He had poked one in the 5th and Frank Thomas homered in the 6th to give the Cubs a 2-0 lead.

The Dodgers tied it in the seventh on a two-base throwing error by Ernie Banks which fomented a ruckus that caused Thomas to be ejected.

The wild inning started when Norm Larker bounced a single into left field and Frank Howard and Charlie Neal walked to fill the bases.

John Roseboro grounded to Jerry Kindall whose throw to Banks forced Neal at second.

Banks threw wide at first trying to double Roseboro. The ball sailed into the Dodger dugout and bounced back out for an automatic two bases. Larker and Howard scored.

Meanwhile, Thomas recovered the ball and threw to Sammy Taylor at the plate.

PALMYRA ROUGH RIDERS OFF FOR SIDNEY RODEO

Lincoln Star Special

Palmyra—So you think you can really take it when it comes to a trip on horseback.

You may qualify as a future member of the Palmyra Rough Riders; a team of sturdy riders and faithful steeds

Each year they make an annual safari (by horseback) to Sidney, Ia. to take part in the Sidney Rodeo.

While most folks turned over for another half-hour snooze Friday morning, the rough riders were up, saddled and ready to leave town at 6 a.m.

"We look forward to this ride and the over-night camp on the east side of the Missouri each year," said Willard Fulk of Bennet, vice-president of the group.

Want to try the trip—then get your name on the list for next year. Members of the troup say, "It's not so tough—we ride over, but we truck home."

Bucs Now Convinced They'll Take Pennant

Pittsburgh (AP) — Some of the Pittsburgh Pirates are beginning to say they will win the National League pennant.

During the past few months, although the Bucs have either been in first place or strongly contending most of the time, the stock answer to pennant questions has been:

"We're playing them one at a time."

That attitude has changed. After the rampaging Bucs closed a long home stand with a 14-4 record, there was a new air of confidence.

Pirate manager Danny Murtaugh still wasn't claiming pennant but first baseman Rocky Nelson and outfielder Gino Cimoli made it plain they believe the Bucs will win their first flag since 1927.

Asked whom he thought will win, Nelson declared:

Positive Predictions

"Well if we don't win it I don't know who will."

Cimoli, a ball of fire on and off the field, was a little more emphatic. He replied to the questioner by saying:

"The Pirates are going to win the pennant! We have the best team in the National League."

What has made the Pirates the hottest team in the majors? Ask Murtaugh and he will reply that he can't put his finger on any one thing—it's a combination of a lot of things, he'll say.

Mickey Vernon, a 42-year-old veteran of baseball who is first base coach, had this to say.

'More Desire'

"The team has more spirit and more desire to win than any team with which I have been associated. There are no big stars — just a bunch of good ballplayers who want to win. The boys are hungry."

Catcher Smoky Burgess, playing his 11th season in the majors, put it this way:

"We hustle. Everyone wants to win and there are no personality clashes on the club."

As the Bucs embarked on a swing through the west their 7½ game lead over second place Milwaukee meant the club could win only half its games the rest of the way and Milwaukee would have to be a ball of fire to catch up. But Murtaugh declared:

'Win 'Em All'

"We're not about to be satisfied by playing .500 ball. We're not looking at tomorrow, or what the Braves or anyone else does . . . we're out to win today's game — and every game."

Collins, Summers Talk At Hastings

Hastings (AP) — Rip Collins, former major leaguer, and Bill Summers, retired American League Umpire, will be featured speakers at a banquet here Aug. 27, day before the start of the American Legion Junior World Series.

Members of the 8 regional champions who will compete in the tourney will be guests, along with Legion baseball commissioner Lou Brissie and Sid Kenner, director of the Hall of Fame and museum.

The double-elimination tournament for the national Legion championship gets under way with a doubleheader Sunday, Aug. 28.

Champions of the 8 regional meets are scheduled to arrive Aug. 26.

Delay Is Reported For Bout

Rome (AP) — The proposed 3rd title bout between world champion Floyd Patterson and Sweden's Ingemar Johansson is running into some roadblocks and may be postponed until spring, the Associated Press learned Thursday.

A source close to Feature Sports, Inc., promoters of the bout, advised there was a "strong possibility" the fight suggested for Nov. 1 in Los Angeles might not come off until the spring of 1961.

He mentioned promotional, organizational, increased tadium rental, and income tax problems as posing present difficulties.

Patterson is in Sweden on an exhibition tour. Johansson, who talked with the champion before returning to Switzerland, said at his home in Geneva:

"I want the return bout as soon as possible. I am training every day here in Geneva, and I feel I am getting into good shape."

Johansson said this was the first he had heard of any plans to postpone the return bout."

Patterson and Johansson had planned to visit Rome to sign for the bout just before the Olympic Games start Aug. 25.

The source said, however, that this plan had been abandoned. In Geneva, however, Johansson denied that this plan had been changed.

Both Patterson and Johansson fought in the 1952 Olympics in Helsinki. Patterson won the middleweight title, and Johansson was disqualified in the heavyweight finals.

Detroit Finds Power; Blasts K. City, 11-6

Detroit (AP)—The Detroit Tigers found some of their long lost hitting power Thursday and walloped the Kansas City Athletics 11-6, hammering out 8 extra base hits in a 15-hit attack.

Al Kaline led the slugging with a home run, a double and two singles. Rocky Colavito knocked in 3 runs with his 25th home run and a sacrifice fly and Norm Cash hit his 14th home run.

Kaline, fighting a season-long slump, looked like the Kaline of old. In the first inning he bounced a single behind the runner into right field, in the 5th he lashed his 12th home run into the right field seats.

He lined a double to left in the 7th, and in the next inning singled cleanly between shortstop and 3rd base.

The loss was the 8th in a row for the last place Athletics. Pete Burnside, who started, received credit for the Tigers' 6th victory in their last 8 games.

Dave Sisler hurled the last 3 1-3 innings.

The Athletics routed Burnside with 3 runs in the 6th, and scored their other 3 off Sisler in the 8th.

Detroit knocked out starter Bud Daley, scoring 5 times in the first 5 innings.

Path To The Altar Becomes More Involved Than In Past

By Karen Kenney

Prospective husbands frustrated by technicalities involved with obtaining a marriage license can look with envy on the young couple of yesteryear.

"Certainly no two-dollar fee nor blood test was connected with the marriage certificate in the pioneer days," comments Mrs. Bessie Lattin Williams as she relates the history behind the certificate issued to the first couple wed in Lincoln — then known as Lancaster Center.

The certificate, which belongs to Mrs. Williams' grandson, Robert E. Lattin of Fremont, was hand-penned and signed by "prebentary judge L. Lavender," who wrote:

" . . . That I have this day united in holy bands of Metrimony (sic) Clinton, Eli, Lattin and Mary Elizabeth Owens given under my hand and Seal this 16th day of April A.D. 1866."

Only One Reason

The lack of technicalities connected with obtaining a marriage license is the only reason prospective husbands can envy the couple of yesteryear, however.

"The hardships which faced a familiy in those days are unbelieveable," continues Mrs. Williams.

The young Lattin couple, for example, met many crisis unknown to the family of today.

"After marriage, Grandfather Clinton, who was then a 'retired' pony express rider, and his wife settled in a sod cabin near Seward," Mrs. Williams went on.

"Either by design or providence, they had built their home on an old Indian trail. Indians were constant visitors, entering the house for food and clothing whenever they pleased."

She related that one of the tribesmen "borrowed" the baby of the family — who is now 90 — and kept him all day.

Another Problem

Another problem forced upon the young couple concerned obtaining supplies from the Nebraska City General Store — nearly 80 miles by wagon and team.

The Nebraska Semi-Centennial held in Lincoln June 17, 1917, presented Mr. and Mrs. Lattin as guests of honor, and featured their certificate as the first issued in this area.

"As we grow older, we appreciate things more, especially this wonderful country in which so much was accomplished in so few years," Mrs. Williams reminisced.

She added that since the certificate is an important part of our Nebraska history and heritage, plans were being made to loan it to the State Historical Society.

The first wedding certificate issued in the Lancaster-Lincoln area, and its owner, Mrs. Bessie Lattin Williams.

Abu Eludes Tracker, But Faces Disgrace

San Antonio, Tex. (AP)—Eight-year-old Master Abu has displayed so much traditional British reserve since he came to the United States that he's about to be sent home in disgrace.

He's already on probation.

Abu doesn't know this, however. Abu is an orangutan.

The San Antonio Zoo paid England's Whipsnade Zoo $4,000 earlier this year so Abu could come here to provide companionship for San Antonio's lonely female orangutan, Anna Ling.

Anna Ling, 11, has lived alone since her first husband, Stanley, died two years ago.

Abu arrived in June. He greeted Anna Ling politely enough but that's as far as it has gone.

The hoped-for patter of little feet seems unlikely to be heard soon.

Anna Ling is unashamedly delighted at the prospect of a new mate.

"She chases him all over the cage," the zookeeper said, but to no avail.

When the chase ends, "he just sits there and holds his head."

Father To Lead Crusade On 'Softness' For Fiends

Boonville, Ind. (UPI) — A heartbroken father declared a personal crusade against "soft treatment" for the kind of sexual deviate who kidnaped and butchered his daughter.

Dr. Robert Terry, a prominent Boonville physician, tried to bring scientific detachment to the nightmare murder of his 11-year-old daughter Avril by convicted rapist Emmett O. Hashfield.

"It is my hope that a crusade may be started at least in Indiana, my home state of Florida, and Avril's grandparents' state of Pennsylvania against the soft attitude toward sexual offenders," Terry said.

The former Miami, Fla., doctor appealed for help from social workers, school teachers, doctors and "perhaps most of all lawyers and jurists who sympathize with children who have been tortured or killed and with bereaved parents."

'Call Any Time'

"Call me at any time, day or night," he said. "I shall not let my grief deter me from taking action as soon as possible to lessen the incidence of this sort of thing. I know I cannot eliminate all of them."

Avril's dismembered body was found in the Ohio River this week. Hashfield, a tattooed ex-blacksmith who has been in and out of jails for 33 years for sexual crimes, admitted abducting the child from the Boonville courthouse square.

Terry said Hashfield had "raped a woman rather early in life . . . he has since specialized in children. He has raped 4 girls between 9 and 14. He raped a boy 10 years old."

'Turn Loose Beast'

Recalling Hashfield's 1958 parole from an 11-year sodomy term, the doctor asked "what manner of man, what type of mind, what motivation directs a parole commission to commit an act against society by knowingly turning loose a beast in the streets?"

"It is the general practice to parole 'gentle' sexual deviates for 'good behavior' in prison." The doctor said in cold bitterness. "'Good behavior' in prison means they have raped no one while in confinement."

Hashfield's own brother had driven him from his home a week ago for molesting the brother's children, Terry charged.

"The fact that this was not reported is a commentary on the parole system as it exists today in our society," Terry said. "Parole violations of sexual molestations are guarded secretly and for this reason the parole system does not, cannot and never could work in the case of the sexual psychopath."

Coroner's Jury Frees Lincolnite Of Death Blame

Grand Island (AP)—A coroner's jury Thursday ruled there was no cause for action against James Blecha, 30, Lincoln, in the death of James R. Walters, 36, of Grand Island.

Walters died of head injuries after he had engaged in a fight with Blecha outside a tavern. Testimony was that Walters was struck twice by Blecha, a State Highway Department employe, during an exchange of blows.

The fight was July 30 and Walters, head of the Grand Island VFW, died 6 days later.

'Do It Yourself' Electric Chair Death Being Probed

Wenatchee, Wash. (AP)—The death of an elderly department store janitor in a do-it-yourself electric chair was being investigated.

The body of Clarence Hudson, 66, in underclothing, was found in a chair in his apartment. Clutched in his hand was a ground wire from a weird, home-made electrical apparatus.

A wet towel was wrapped about Hudson's head. The bare feet rested on another wet towel.

Pasted to each temple was a 25-cent piece. From each coin extended a wire to a home-made transformer — a two-pound coffee tin containing a series of magnets and coils of wire.

A lead from the transformer was connected to a wall outlet. Police said the apparatus apparently was triggered by taking hold of the ground wire.

1,000 Volts

Purpose of the transformer, police said, was to increase the voltage from the wall outlet. It was estimated that 1,000 volts shot through Hudson's body.

A coroner's deputy said Hudson had been dead about 3 hours when found.

Police Chief William Reich said the investigation was considering the possibilities of suicide or accident.

Reich said Hudson's brother told police the victim had been undergoing electrical shock treatments by a physician. No notes were found.

Liquified Petroleum Gas Pipeline Might Bring New Industry

The new $71 million liquified petroleum gas pipeline nearing completion in Nebraska and other north central states holds the potential of new industry for the Lincoln area.

Thomas

This observation was made by Robert E. Thomas, president of Mid-America Pipeline Company of Tulsa, Okla., Thursday in Lincoln during an inspection trip stopover of construction.

The 2,200-mile pipeline will bring propane and other liquified petroleum gases from the Southwest to points as far north as St. Paul, Minn., and Janesville, Wis.

It's western leg crosses southeast Nebraska with the state's pumping and delivery terminal located at Greenwood, about 16 miles northeast of Lincoln.

Thomas said petro-chemical industries especially could be attracted by the availability of the raw products dependably and at low transportation cost to centers of population.

Petro-chemical plants turn out a variety of plastics and synthetic rubber.

Referring to the industry potential, Thomas said that raw material supply would be only one of several factors involved.

Other "ingredients that would help" include an inexhaustible water supply, a good labor force, and a reasonable level of prices in the area.

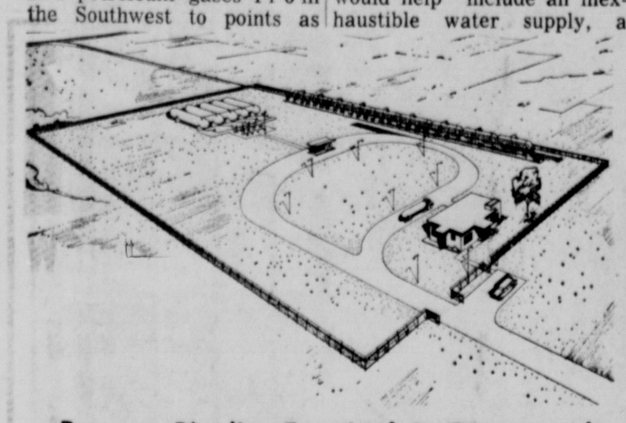

Thomas suggested that the eastern Nebraska has these other ingredients and noted Greenwood was approximately mid-point between two population centers.

The 46-year-old president also noted that John Fraker, executive director of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce and formerly of Houston, is well-acquainted with the petro-chemical field.

The new pipeline, which will be in full operation by Dec. 1, will pump 1,200,000 gallons of propane or other LPG products each day, but capacity can be stepped up 50% to 1,900,000 gallons daily with additional pumping facilities.

Since the first pipe was laid in late April, some 1,000 miles have been completed. The Greenwood terminal will be ready by Nov. 1, he said.

From supply sources in Texas and New Mexico, the pipeline travels to Conway, Kan., where it branches into two legs. The west leg crosses Nebraska with a terminal at Greenwood then continues to St. Paul. The east leg passes through Kansas City, Moberly, Mo., Ottumwa, Iowa City and Dubuque in Iowa and moves on to Janesville.

Propane Pipeline Terminal At Greenwood

This is an architect's sketch of type of pumping station and delivery terminal for liquefied petroleum gas being constructed at Greenwood as part of Mid-America Pipeline's 2,200-mile system. The system will pump 1.2 million gallons daily with 50% expansion possible with more pumps.

Otto Here To Arrange Vote Drive

Sen. Norman Otto of Kearney, voter registration chairman for the Nebraska Democratic Party, was in Lincoln Thursday making arrangements for the drive in Lincoln and Omaha.

He said the effort to get voters registered in the 14 Nebraska cities requiring registration might well be approached on a bipartisan basis.

It might be feasible, he said, for a Democrat and a Republican to team up and jointly make the house-to-house calls on unregistered voters.

He noted that a registration drive in Kearney prior to the May primary was handled by the Chamber of Commerce as a non-partisan effort.

A local chairman to direct the work will be sought in each of the 14 cities in Nebraska, he said.

Rural and small town residents are not required to register in advance.

Britain Will Help

London (AP) — Britain agreed to protect Dutch interests in Indonesia following the rupture of diplomatic relations between those two countries, the foreign office announced.

NU's Animal Husbandry Meets Today's Changes

The teaching program in animal husbandry at the University of Nebraska has made a break with many of the old patterns and traditions to meet the needs of today's advanced agriculture.

According to Dr. Franklin Eldridge, director of resident instruction at the College of Agriculture, the animal husbandry major now requires that students take more basic science courses before they go into the applied animal courses.

Dr. Eldridge said that in the rapidly changing times we are now experiencing, it is important that students be well-grounded in basic information, so that they can evaluate the new methods and procedures in different types of agriculture.

Things Change

"Twenty or thirty years ago it was necessary for our colleges to spend considerable time on practical applications of different methods in animal husbandry. This type of teaching has been very effective and has resulted in a great many changes in methods of conducting farm operations," he added.

"In view of the impact of research on systems of production, it is now time for a change. I'm sure the changes we are making in the Animal Husbandry department reflect this attitude," Dr. Eldridge said.

According to Dr. Robert M. Koch, chairman of the Animal Husbandry department, an entirely new course and three completely revised courses have been added to the major.

The new course, livestock production, is designed for undergraduate students who are not majoring in animal husbandry, to provide them with information on animal production problems at a much higher level than in the past. The course is intended for potential vocational agriculture instructors and county agents who are often faced with questions and problems of this type. Such students are not able to take a full sequence of production courses.

Courses Upgraded

Dr. Koch said that the other 3 courses—swine, beef and sheep production—have been upgraded and will require preparation in the basic sciences. They will enable the students to combine the principles learned in basic courses in usable management programs.

Another major change in the curriculum is that all animal husbandry graduates will no longer be required to take the basic introductory course, fundamental animal husbandry, as has been true in the past. Dr. Koch said that many of the facts that a boy would receive in this course could be learned on a farm or through practical experience.

Problems Of Aged Will Be Discussed At Omaha

A comprehensive study of the problems of the aged in Nebraska will be presented at the State Conference by the Governor's Commission on Aging which will be held at Omaha Monday and Tuesday.

Six subcommittees will present statistical reports on the status of the aged in the fields of health, employment, voluntary health insurance, housing, social services, economics and many other phases, the Governor's Office reported Thursday.

Each of the phases will be reported by the subcommittees in open session and discussed by those attending the workshop on the opening day of the conference.

Action Expected

At the Tuesday general session the committee reports will be discussed and then acted upon. The reports adopted will comprise the report of the State of Nebraska to the White House Conference in January, 1961.

Among the reports to be considered will be one on hospitalization insurance which indicates that 90.6% of Nebraskans 65 years of age and over will have voluntary health coverage by 1970.

The committee, headed by E. J. Faulkner of Lincoln, will report that 54.6% of Nebraskans now in this age group have hospitalization insurance, and that the percentage will rise to 73.5% in another 5 years.

The 54.6% now covered represents 86,227 Nebraskans, out of an estimated 158,000 residents of the state in the 65 and over age bracket.

Health Benefits

Health insurance benefits paid last year to Nebraskans 65 and over totalled $3,220,000, or 10.5% of all health insurance benefit payments made in the state in 1959.

The committee will recommend to the Governor's Commission on Aging that the group oppose any establishment of a government insurance plan and endorse the voluntary approach to the provision of benefits for financing the health care costs of the aged.

Other members of the health insurance committee are Dr. A. J. Offerman, William J. Hotz Jr. and Paul Schneider, all of Omaha.

NIXON WILL STEP UP DRIVE IN FARM BELT

Washington (AP) — A stepped-up Republican campaign in the Farm Belt was announced after a meeting between Vice President Richard M. Nixon and congressional farm advisers.

"You're going to see more Republican action in the Farm Belt than has been seen in a long time," said Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt), chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, after the session.

Nixon, the Republican presidential candidate, announced plans for a series of regional meetings to get farmer views on major agricultural questions.

"It's refreshing to have a candidate who understands the farm problem and is sympathetic, too," Aiken told newsmen when the nearly two-hour session broke up.

Aiken said Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson was "not materially" discussed.

'Needs Building On'

"The vice president doesn't throw away everything Benson has done, but it does require a lot of building on," he added.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) said he believes the vice president will outline major points of his farm program in a speech at Guthrie Center, Iowa, Sept. 16. Another major farm speech is to be made in South Dakota, he said.

"He is going into this matter very thoroughly. No presidential candidate has a better grasp of the problem than the vice president," Hickenlooper added.

Nixon's plan calls for prominent farm leaders to be named in key Midwest agricultural areas, to invite a representative group of the region's farmers to discuss local problems and solutions.

Personal Observer

William McKerrow, 38, a Pewaukee, Wis., farmer, has been named to act as Nixon's personal observer at the regional conferences.

Also discussed were ways to improve GOP effectiveness in farm areas.

As one step, the Republican National Committee's farm division is forming farm action committees in 15 agricultural states. They will "encourage effective Republican activity in rural areas," Nixon's office announced.

Patricia Nixon Named Honorary Donut Queen

New York (AP) — Patricia Nixon, 14-year-old daughter of Vice President Nixon, has been named honorary 1960 teen-age "Donut Queen."

The National Donut Week committee said Patricia will receive a crown, scepter and sash when she reigns over the 32nd annual National Donut Week, Oct. 18-25.

The committee said Miss Nixon won the title because of her preference for donuts. Patricia had complained that an airliner taking her and her family to the Republican National Convention in Chicago did not serve donuts.

"Her preference for the little cake with the hole in the middle has caused a big increase in donut sales among teenagers," a spokesman said.

There is one magic day in the year when a neighborhood sidewalk becomes the high road to adventure. It is that first day of the new school year when homes in every neighborhood send forth their little ones to join the army of starched, well scrubbed bundles of energy converging on the school. Pleasant anticipation runs high because today old friendships will be renewed, "new kids" will be met and tested, and the new teacher will be evaluated to the last detail. The first few days find Mom experiencing a strange awe at the silence in the house. It is a good time for her to ponder the wisdom of putting a Family Want Ad to work, to sell items the family no longer needs, to help defray cost of the new outfits which are at school with the youngsters. EVERYBODY'S MONEY

Home Sales And New Inventions

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

A reader, who has moved to Warren, Ohio, asks about temporary investment of $10,000 in cash received from the sale of his home in another city.

The inquirer wants his funds available in the event he and his wife want to buy a new residence.

Rukeyser

If the old house was sold at a price that resulted in a profit, or capital gain, it is advantageous to make a decision concerning a new residence within the year. Under the tax law, if a profit is reinvested within the time limit in a newly acquired residence, the individual avoids the liability of paying a capital gains tax on the earlier transaction. Since the inquirer points out that he is in the 53% tax bracket, this factor of timing should not be overlooked.

At the same time, the tax bracket cuts by more than half the net realized benefit of interest earnings on ordinary taxable bonds or savings accounts during the temporary investment of the funds. In the circumstances, the reader should seriously consider putting his funds in tax free state or municipal obligations which mature in not more than two years.

For this special financial need, such an investment would be preferable to the reader's own suggestion that he put his funds in an insured savings and loan association or in an outstanding, no-load mutual fund. As for the latter, the absence of the load charge reduces the disadvantage of using a more or less permanent investment commitment to meet a temporary purpose. It seems to me, however, more sensible for the reader to put his $10,000 in a short term investment, such as tax free municipal bonds of short maturity until such time as he and his wife reach a decision whether to use the funds toward the purchase of a replacement home instead of the existing temporary rental arrangement.

Another reader in Hebron, Nebraska, asks whether there is any place in this economy where a man without financial means can turn for aid in marketing original ideas.

The reader mentions an invention for saving the farmer money—a cover for stacks of baled hay. It is suggested that the inventor discuss this product with the national farm organizations, such as the American Farm Bureau Federation and the National Grange.

Another dreamed up category of products mentioned in the communication consists of games "that have been tried successfully in Boy Scout camps and on school play grounds". A series of letters to leading national manufacturers of games is suggested as an approach.

The wife of the inventor, who wrote the letter, added: "We have recently been told by a merchandising expert that it is almost impossible to make a product go without an expensive and extensive advertising and promotional program.

"What we want to know is—since we have no money for production—should we forget the whole thing—several years of hand to mouth living — and several thousand dollars of our savings—or is there, somewhere, someone interested in doing the promotion of new products?"

While there is no royal or easy road to pioneering and venturing in new ideas, the exceptionally able and inventive are continuing to make break-throughs. There are financial companies, including Rockefeller Brothers and H. P. Whitney & Company in New York, who are interested in new capital gain projects. These topnotchers, however, have many ideas submitted, and are exceedingly selective.

Other approaches to crossing the barrier consist of "business opportunity" classified advertisements, in financial publications or in the classified section of metropolitan newspapers.

The adviser who told the reader of the difficulties has not exaggerated. It is important, for the inventor to recognize that the person who furnishes the wherewithal for financing a new idea is entitled to a large slice of potential gains. If only simple interest is the reward, the moneyed people prefer investment in tested and seasoned industries in which the element of risk is lower.

A physician in Dallas writes about suitable retirement plans to qualify under the Keogh-Simpson bill to permit tax allowances for self-pensioning plans. At present, with the legislative jam in Congress in this election year, it unfortunately looks as though the bill will get lost in the shuffle. Once Congress agrees on a legislative formula to put the self-employed, including professional persons, on a tax parity with employees of corporations with private pension plans, technical compliance with such a statute would be routine.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with stamped, self-addressed envelopes should be sent in care of this newspaper. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.)
